Eden Majority Reaches 60 Seats

Sea Greyhounds on Show Tonight

200-MILE RACE

20 Yachts Readying For Swiftsure

For the first time in the history of the Swiftsure ocean yacht race, all entries will be anchored in the Inner Harbor tonight, prior to the 9.30 a.m. starting time Saturday.

The race committee has asked all yachts to dress ship for the occasion, and at least 20 yachts will be anchored gunwale to gunwale.

Mayor Claude Harrison, R.V.C. Commodore F. W. Nicolls, and P.Y.A. vice-commodore Andrew Wright will make a welcoming tour of the entries, commencing at 8 p.m.

At 9.15 p.m., the schooner Black Dog will act as a floating stage for a concert of sea chanteys by the Meistersingers under the direction of F. D. Wickett.

Progress of the 136.4 nautical mile race to the Swiftsure lighthouse and back will be charted by a special R.V.C. committee, working around the clock. Information on the race can be obtained at any time by phoning the yacht club, 4-5513.

Depending on winds, yachts will complete the race late Sunday or Monday morning. Actual sailing distance is over 200 miles.

ADAMS, RAYNER MADE ADMIRALS

Victoria, Ontario Officers Promoted
By RCN; Adams Heads Naval Divisions

OTTAWA (CP)—The navy today got two new rear-admirals.

The defence department announced the promotions of Commodore Herbert S. Rayner, DSC and bar, 44, of St. Catharines, Ont., and Ottawa's and of Commodore Kenneth F. Adams, 51, of Victoria.

Rear-Admiral Rayner has just been appointed chief of naval personnel at naval headquarters here, succeeding Rear-Admiral Hugh F. Pullen, 49, of Oakville, Ont., and Halifax, who becomes Flag Officer Pacific Coast, July 7.

Rear-Admiral Adams has been commanding officer naval divisions since the formation at Hamilton, in April, 1953, of a separate establishment to administer the naval reserve and its 22 naval divisions across Canada. His promotion makes his title Flag Officer Naval Divisions. (See story page 17).

BEGAN AS CADET

Rear-Admiral Rayner, who began his naval career as a cadet in 1928, won the Distinguished Service Cross and bar during the Second World War while he was in command of the destroyers St. Laurent and Huron. Since the war, he has commanded the aircraft carrier Magnificent and held several staff appointments.

Swing to Right Sharply Cuts Laborite Margins

LONDON—Party standings in the British election based on returns from 624 of 630 seats (316 seats needed to win):

Communist	0	33,144	.1	21,640
Other	1	197,258	.8	110,695

Standing at dissolution: Conservatives and allies (including speaker), 320; Labor, 293; Liberals, 6; Irish Nationalists, 2; Irish Labor, 1; vacancies, 3.

Party gains: Conservatives from Labor, 18; Conservatives from Irish Labor, 1; Labor from Conservatives, 1; Sinn Fein from Irish Nationalists, 1; new seats, Conservatives, 5; unchanged, 596.

LONDON (CP)—Sir Anthony Eden today capped a smashing election victory with a promise that his Conservatives will "do everything in our power to fulfil the trust of the country."

Eden emerged as a national leader of full stature as voters in Thursday's general election gave him a solid majority of about 60 seats in the new 630-seat House of Commons.

Eden, most of whose political career has been overshadowed by the brilliant Sir Winston Churchill, had the satisfaction of leading the Conservatives to their biggest victory in a quarter-century and of reversing a 90-year trend against the party in power increasing its strength. In the old 625-seat Commons, the Conservatives had a working majority of 17.

RAIL TIE-UP FACES EDEN

LONDON (UP)—A strike by 70,000 railway engineers and firemen set for Saturday night threatened Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden's newly re-elected government with nationwide chaos tonight. Efforts to head off the planned walkout failed even as Eden threw the full prestige of his government into the fight.

which might have faced nationalization had the Socialists won highlighted the day's advances.

Win Aids Eden at 'Summit' Talks

Eden, with a new five-year lease on 10 Downing Street, the official residence of the prime minister, returned triumphantly to London today.

The 57-year-old prime minister, with his wife by his side, left his Warwickshire electoral district by car after telling his supporters his personal victory there went "beyond my wildest dreams."

They had increased his individual majority by more than 3,000 votes over his Labor opponent and set the pattern for the sweeping Conservative victory.

Eden was cheered by a crowd of about 300 when he arrived at 10 Downing Street. Obviously pleased by the resounding vote of confidence from the people, which will strengthen his prestige for the forthcoming Big Four talks, Eden smiled and waved to his well-wishers.

"I thank you, I thank you very much," he said. From the crowd there were shouts of "Bravo," "Well done" and "Congratulations."

Son Matches Macmillan Triumph

One of Eden's chief lieutenants, Harold Macmillan, who succeeded him as foreign secretary, was returned in Bromley with an increase of more than 1,000 in his majority.

Macmillan's triumph gives the Conservatives a father and son team. His son, Maurice, was elected in Halifax, gaining the seat from Labor.

Jennie Lee, wife of left-wing Laborite Aneurin Bevan, won easily as did her husband. So did Eden's nephew, John B. Eden.

R. A. Butler, chancellor of the exchequer and the man largely credited with setting out economic policies which contributed to the Conservative victory, was re-elected in Saffron-Walden with a margin increased by about 1,200 votes over 1951.

Lord Woolton, Conservative election strategist, said the lower poll—76 per cent of the electorate compared with between 80 and 85 per cent in the previous two elections—was significant.

The swing to the right, ending the near-deadlocks of the last two general elections, is considered due mainly to the prosperity Britain has enjoyed under the Conservatives during the last 3½ years.

High wages, full employment and an end of postwar austerity took the sting out of political rivalry.

Britain's third biggest party, the Liberals, suffered heavy defeats in a vain bid to recapture some of the power they once wielded. In 43 out of 57 seats they contested their candidates lost their deposits.

The Communists, who contested 17 seats, were even more shattered. All 14—whose results had been declared by this morning lost their deposits.

Britain wuz th' battleground o' Attlee yestiddy. It's th' garden o' Eden today.

M' Uncle Zeke's awatin' offers fer not applyin' fer a forestry licence. Thinks there ought t' be lots o' people who wouldn't want t' see him git one.

Seems a lot o' teeth are bein' gnashed over the Kelowna bridgework.

'No Hope' for Missing In Nelson Hotel Fire

NELSON, B.C. (BUP)—

Eight persons were believed to have been burned to death today when fire crackled through the three-storey Strathcona Hotel in one of British Columbia's worst fire disasters.

Fire Chief Eldon S. Owens said the bodies of a girl, two women and a man had been recovered from the holocaust 10 hours after the fire ripped through the 45-year-old wooden structure. Four others of the approximate 60 guests in the residential hotel were still unaccounted for, he said.

Asked whether there was any possibility of the remaining four surviving the blaze, the chief said "I'm afraid it's hopeless—utterly impossible."

EIGHT HURT

Five tenants were injured when they jumped to safety and three firemen suffered slight injuries in fighting the blaze.

The victims tentatively identified were John Price, about 83, Mrs. Margaret Sinclair, about 70, a Mrs. Edey and a Japanese-Canadian girl bank teller, Harumi Shimoto.

The hotel, the oldest in the interior British Columbia community of 10,000, was recently converted into residential apartments.

Two of the survivors, E. V. Land and Paul Franck, clung by their finger-tips to the window sill of their rooms before being rescued by firemen.

Franck, a typewriter repairman, said he had just fallen asleep when he was awakened by smoke pouring into his third-floor room.

"I got out into the hall but there was nowhere to go," he said. "The window was the only place left and I climbed out and hung by my finger-tips."

"I yelled for help for three or four minutes and my fingers started to burn on the hot sill," Franck said. "A fireman came up on a ladder and got me just in time. I couldn't have hung on any longer."

Fire Chief Owens estimated damage at $85,000.

EARLY MORNING

The fire, of unknown origin, broke out about 1 a.m. on the second floor, trapping most of the residents of the building. Many of them were elderly people, the fire chief said.

Some of the guests and staff jumped into firemen's arms. Many fled in their nightclothes, with no time to save their possessions.

4-MILE FLOOD CREST BEARING DOWN ON ELIE

WINNIPEG, Man. (BUP)—The tiny community of Elie was a walled fortress today as it prepared to meet the onslaught of a raging Assiniboine River on one side and the La Salle River on the other.

Three days of frantic dike-building ended Thursday night with completion of a wall of earth and sandbags around the townsite.

A flood crest nearly four miles wide and two to three feet deep rolled overland from the Assiniboine and tore out culverts and bridges and washed out secondary roads that will take months to repair. The crest was three miles from Elie early today.

Wasylenchuk Gets Life Imprisonment

NEW WESTMINSTER (BUP)—The heaviest sentence ever handed down in British Columbia for armed robbery—life imprisonment—was imposed today on bank robber John Wasylenchuk, 32.

FEARS 'RACK'

Wasylenchuk, third man convicted in the $29,500 holdup of a Burnaby branch of the Royal Bank of Canada Jan. 13, showed no emotion when sentence was passed by Mr. Justice H. S. Wood in Assize Court.

Wasylenchuk's attorney, Edward Whiffen, said he definitely would appeal the sentence.

Justice Wood, qualifying his sentence, said "the statute allows for life imprisonment in bad cases. This is a bad case." Wasylenchuk will not be lashed.

The two other bandits in the robbery, John Bertelson of Victoria and William Alan Babcock of Vancouver, both received sentences of 20 years and 21 strokes after entering guilty pleas in Burnaby police court.

Mr. Gibson was under cross-examination by B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association counsel Walter Owen, Q.C.

Mr. Gibson said earlier that licence holders are making from $5 to $10 a thousand on logs taken out for them by contractors. Mr. Owen demanded a list of the contractors.

He denied his clients, many of them large licence-holders, followed this practice.

Mr. Gibson said, "I can't afford to have these men be put over a rack." He said, "If I gave their names they would be on complete outs with the people they are doing business with. You will have to accept my statements," he said.

Runaway Van Kills 6

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Six and possibly seven persons were killed today by a big moving van which roared downhill out of control and struck them on the sidewalk.

As bulldozers and a crane turned over the ruins in this devastated town of 500 where only three "business places were left standing, 12 more bodies were recovered overnight.

Opposition Asks Government To Reduce Letter Postal Rate

(From CP and BUP Dispatches)

The government has been told it should reduce the letter postage rate it increased a year ago.

Progressive Conservative and CCF members made the demand Thursday in a general debate on postal affairs.

The all-day discussion also brought forth: A call for an end to "subsidization" of advertisers through second-class mail rates; the perennial plea for better conditions for mail carriers.

T. A. Kirk, parliamentary assistant to Postmaster-General Cote, started it off with a report that revenues last fiscal year jumped 7 per cent to $151,000,000. The surplus was an expected $5,000,000, not taking into account some $5,000,000 in free postage and $13,000,000 in rentals paid by the public works department.

William Hamilton, PC-Montreal Notre-Dame-de-Grace, said the government showed "woolly-headedness" last year in getting Parliament's approval of a letter-rate increase of one cent an ounce.

He said the surplus should be the basis for a revision and reduction in postal rates.

Increase Periodical Rates

Erhart Regier, CCF-Burnaby-Coquitlam, said the department could reduce the letter rate and still make ends meet by increasing second-class rates on magazines and periodicals.

He said it is an imposition on those paying the higher letter rate to ask them to subsidize magazine postage which does not cover handling costs.

George Hahn, SC-New Westminster, also called for higher charges against periodicals. Publishers could cover the extra cost by getting more money from advertisers who benefitted from low-cost mailings of magazines.

Claude Ellis, CCF-Regina, said a new directive under which holiday time is deducted for lateness on the job is "insulting and humiliating" to civil servants.

Canadian TV Network Plans Advance

Canadian engineers are expected to complete this summer the plotting of a coast-to-coast microwave television network.

H. G. Young, of Montreal, general manager of Bell Telephone Company's toll system, also told the Commons broadcasting committee Thursday that the network is expected to cost $40,000,000 to $50,000,000.

He said detailed "path-testing" over most of the 3,800-mile communications skyway has been completed. The company and the government previously estimated the network would be operating early in 1958, carrying both television programs and long-distance telephone calls. Detailed path-testing, Mr. Young said, has been completed in all areas west of Quebec City, except between Calgary and Medicine Hat, Alta., and between Lethbridge and Vancouver. East of Quebec, path-testing now was in progress.

Mr. Young said the trans-Canada microwave system initially will provide two TV channels in each direction and 120 telephone circuits. However, only one channel in each direction would be used for television programs, with the second set aside as a spare.

Chairman George McIvor of the Canadian wheat board Thursday declined to make public the salaries paid to board members and staff on the ground it might "embarrass" the wheat-selling organization.

Mr. McIvor told the Commons agricultural committee that though salary adjustments were made to board staff every year, he himself had never asked for a raise and did not intend to do so now. He was content with the money paid him by the western grain producers.

However, the board had to compete with industry for staff. While its salaries were in line with those paid in other fields, it would be "embarrassing" to the board to make them public.

Canada has informed the Geneva conference powers she is dissatisfied with handling of the refugee problem in Communist North Viet Nam.

External Affairs Minister Pearson said Thursday Canadian members of the Viet Nam truce supervisory commission have filed a separate report to the commission's third report to the Geneva powers. Britain and Russia are co-chairmen of the Geneva conference.

Mr. Pearson told the Commons external affairs committee the Canadian submission should not be considered a "minority report." It outlined Canadian "reservations" over handling of the refugee problem.

ROGER A PRO?

NEW YORK (AP)—Roger Bannister, the first man to break the magic four-minute barrier in the mile run, has apparently renounced his amateurism and sealed his decision never to run again.

Advertisements appeared Thursday in New York newspapers stating that Sports Illustrated would publish his story on how he conquered the four-minute mile. Any such capitalization of athletic fame for pay would make the British runner a professional.

HIDDEN BOMB KILLED 15 IN PLANE

Slayers of Chou's Delegates Hunted in Hong Kong Slums

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Police today hunted the byways of this British colony at the front door to China searching for possible saboteurs of an Indian airliner which crashed last month killing 15 Chinese Communist officials and correspondents.

Sources said police already have arrested "a number of Chinese," but government spokesmen refused to confirm or deny the report.

The police began their hunt soon after an Indonesian government investigating commission announced in New Delhi the crash was caused by a bomb hidden in the well of a retractable wheel in the plane's wing.

Police believe the bomb may have been planted when the plane stopped off here to pick up the Communist officials en route to the Afro-Asian conference at Bandung, Indonesia.

The Hong Kong government said all arrangements for servicing an refueling the plane and for the transport of the plane's passengers have been investigated.

"Though it would not be in the public interest at this stage to publish the results of Hong Kong police investigations so far made, the Hong Kong government is determined to make every effort to ascertain the facts," it said.

More than 100 persons were interviewed by police and statements were taken from all.

The airliner, Air India's Kashmir Princess, crashed into the South China sea off Sarawak April 11. Three Indian crew members survived.

NEGLIGENCE DENIED Immediately after, the Chinese Communist government charged it was the result of sabotage in Hong Kong by American and Chinese Nationalist agents. It accused the colony's government of negligence and claimed the Hong Kong officials had received a warning from Peiping of possible trouble.

The Hong Kong government denied this charge. It said the Chinese Communists warned trouble might be made by anti-Communists, and precaution had been taken to protect passengers from molestation.

The Indonesian government appointed a commission to inquire into the crash because it occurred in Indonesian waters.

Gibson Links Tree Licence, Huge Profit

B.C. Pulp and Paper shareholders realized a profit of over $11,000,000 as a result of a forest management licence granted the firm in 1950, former Liberal MLA Gordon Gibson charged Thursday.

Under cross-examination by Walter Owen, Q.C., counsel for the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association, before Chief Justice Gordon Sloan, Mr. Gibson said value of the firm's stock rose from $82 to $199 during 1950, when it was granted a forest management licence.

He said total value of B.C. Pulp's 100,000 common shares boomed from $8,500,000 to about $20,000,000.

B.C. Pulp was granted forest management licence 6, on the northwest corner of Vancouver Island. Subsequently, Alaska Pine and Cellulose took over the firm.

Alaska Pine now is controlled by Rayonier Corp. of New York, Mr. Gibson claimed, the licence involved about 10 per cent of the timber in B.C. which has been alienated under the forest management licence system.

He said it is possible a similar amount of profit has been realized on the remaining 90 per cent, making a total capital gain profit for shareholders of $110,000,000, "and I don't know where it has gone."

Mr. Gibson said this money should have gone to the people of B.C., through some method of putting forest management licences up for public auction. He said they should be advertised for one year and sold to the highest bidder.

LOGGER "BOUGHT OFF"
During presentation of his formal brief earlier, Mr. Gibson charged B.C. Forest Products had "bought off" Tofino logger, Sammy Craig, with 26,000,000 feet of timber.

He said Craig, at the last minute, had withdrawn his appeal against a license since granted BCFP, with the knowledge of the government, after firm officials offered him the timber.

Under cross-examination, he said "buying off one man does not mean the rest of the people don't want to log" in the license area.

The former Lillooet MLA cited forest management applications where firms "which should have opposed them, for economic reasons," did not register a protest.

"The people involved got together beforehand, and agreed how to carve up the timber among them," Mr. Gibson charged.

ALL CREAM, NO SKIM

Representatives of almost every major B.C. timber firm attended Thursday's sitting of the Sloan Commission, to hear Mr. Gibson's testimony.

The millionaire logger, a long-time opponent of the forest management license system, said the government is giving "the cream" of B.C.'s timber crop away to a few large firms. He said that if a license policy of making firms "take the skim milk with the cream" had been followed, I might have been in favor of it.

Instead, we are giving away the cream, and doing nothing to get rid of the timber which is hard to sell," Mr. Gibson said.

Kremlin Woos Tito By Blaming Beria

Lying Reports by Purged Police Chief Caused Rift, Khrushchev Tells Yugoslavs

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UP)—Soviet boss Nikita Khrushchev today launched the Kremlin's bid to woo Yugoslavia back into the Soviet fold through personal talks with Marshal Tito.

Tito and the top-level Soviet delegation faced each other across a conference table in the ornate "Hall of Guards" and began discussion on Moscow's new "friendship" policy.

In addition to Khrushchev, the Soviet delegation included Premier Nikolai Bulganin, first deputy premier Anastas Mikoyan, first deputy foreign minister Andrei Gromyko and deputy foreign trade minister T. N. Kurnykin. It was probably the strongest top-level delegation ever to leave the Kremlin and one of the most unusual missions ever undertaken by the Soviets.

Khrushchev announced over Radio Belgrade shortly after the delegation's arrival that he is "ready to do everything" to

UAW Spurns New Ford Offer; Half-Price Shares Rejected

DETROIT (AP)—The Ford Motor Co., a tightly-knit family enterprise for half a century, offered Thursday to sell some of its stock to 140,000 Ford employees at half price. But the proposal met prompt union rejection.

The CIO United Auto Workers said it fell far short its demand for a guaranteed annual wage.

Ford's announcement was the first from secrecy-cloaked bargaining rooms since the auto industry's widely-watched guaranteed negotiations began last month.

Coffee Prices Drop 4 Cents In Victoria

Coffee prices in Victoria dropped four cents a pound this week, and returned to the level where they were more than a year ago.

Popular brands of coffee now are selling between 91 cents and $1.10 a pound.

The price drop here follows a similar drop in the United States. The last price change in Victoria occurred two months ago when coffee took a big drop of 11 cents a pound, a corrective measure, fighting the situation which developed early last year when coffee prices soared after "frost scare" reports from Brazil.

Retailers are inclined to think the present price level will hold, although they readily admit "you never can tell for sure."

How 'Money Talked'

MR. GORDON GIBSON'S TESTIMONY to the Sloan commission on forestry has pinned down his charge in the Legislature that "money has talked" in forest management license negotiations.

In brief Mr. Gibson says that B.C. Forest Products, by a hotel room deal, persuaded logger Sammy Craig not to appeal against its application for the Clayoquot district license by assuring him cutting rights on 26,000,000 feet of timber for which he would receive the open market price. By Mr. Gibson's figuring that "deal was worth a minimum of $125,000 to Mr. Craig over and above his normal profit."

"The payment of this settlement," Mr. Gibson states, "only satisfied Mr. Craig's personal objections. I, for one, would not blame him for accepting it for himself, and perhaps even for his children."

"But," he adds, "the danger lies in the fact that his action has been construed by those who cancelled this public working circle (incorporated into the Clayoquot forest management license) as being a quit claim by every British Columbia citizen of this and future generations to the timber stand which was theirs since the British Crown acquired it on their behalf at Nootka in 1793."

Mr. Gibson argues this case: A public working circle on which all loggers could bid has been eliminated by the establishment of the Clayoquot forest management license. It passes now into the control of a large operator. No longer is access to this tract open to any British Columbian on the terms of free competition which formerly existed. And the big operator has obtained that control by buying off the small opposition.

Mr. Gibson has made his argument clearer than at any time during his attack on forest management licenses. He draws attention to the manner in which big interests can take over public forests.

This can scarcely have been the intent of the original legislation, promulgated to establish sustained yield in British Columbia's forests, but not to remove desirable tracts of timber beyond the reach of the small independent who was the pioneer in the industry.

It is doubtless such arguments as this which Chief Justice Sloan, sitting as commissioner, welcomes. His earlier report nine years ago outlined a plan which was aimed at the preservation of the forest industry indefinitely.

At that time he recommended a review of the whole subject again within a 10 year period to determine what further improvements could be made in forest policies. That recommendation, it may be assumed, foresaw the emergence of flaws in the original plan. Mr. Gibson has apparently placed his finger on one of those flaws—and it is a big one.

By the clarity of his submission to the commission yesterday, the former Lillooet member and Liberal candidate for the seat he resigned, has rendered a valuable service.

Nearer to the Prize

THE SOVIET'S FORMAL AGREEMENT to take part in a gathering of Big Four leaders brings the momentous conference one step nearer. Still to be decided are the time and place of the meeting, and this may occasion some diplomatic manoeuvring by both sides. Vienna has been suggested in Russian quarters, but Lausanne and other neutral sites have also been proposed.

It was not in keeping with recent conciliatory advances made by the Kremlin that Moscow's acceptance in principle of a meeting was accompanied by charges that the United States was trying to exert pressures that imperilled the forthcoming talks. Britain and France were not mentioned in this connection, and the Russian move could well be a continuation of the now familiar tactics of trying to separate the Western allies.

At the same time, it is well known that President Eisenhower was the least enthusiastic of the four leaders concerning what might be accomplished by a meeting at the summit. He had earlier expressed doubts that now was the best time for such a conference, but apparently acceded to the urging of Britain and France.

For Sir Winston Churchill, who has advocated the meeting for the last two years, the current developments contain their measure of irony. The man he trained to succeed him will carry Britain's case to the conference which was denied him. Big Four agreement to the meeting, at long last, has vindicated Sir Winston's stand. And Britain's resounding support for Sir Anthony Eden yesterday sets the seal of public approval on Sir Winston's choice.

The problems to be discussed at the conference are still in the form of generalities. It appears that the heads of state will seek to establish an amicable atmosphere and lay down broad principles of action. The more detailed work will be carried out at a later date by the foreign ministers.

The present international situation has been described as a critical turning point in world affairs. The conference could add much, or nothing, to this. But as Sir Winston said, in advancing his original proposal: "I do not see why anyone should be frightened at having a try for it. If there is not at the summit of the nations the will to win the greatest prize... doom-laden responsibility will fall upon those who now possess the power to decide."

Four men will go to the conference with that sense of responsibility. They cannot afford to miss a chance at "the greatest prize."

Young Men Who Serve

JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE delegates to the B.C. and Yukon regional convention here have again raised the question of property qualifications for municipal candidates.

A resolution presented to the conference points out that a young man may have a substantial investment in the home he is paying for—an investment well above the $500 equity free of encumbrances which he might acquire merely by purchasing a lot—and yet may not be qualified to offer himself as a candidate. This is the case where a purchaser faces a mortgage greater than the payments he has made on a property. Because of this regulation a person might have paid $5,000 on a $10,000 home and yet be ineligible to stand for office.

Very properly the energetic Junior Chamber of Commerce members want this disability removed. They are concerned with the matter because they take a healthy interest in public affairs. They would like to broaden the field of their own representation in the conduct of municipal business.

The resolution probably expresses as well as anything the attitude of these young men who are Victoria's guests at this time. It reflects the vitality, the sense of responsibility and the desire to participate in service which marks the young business men who serve in the Junior Chamber.

These are the ones who in Victoria have made an outstanding success of their annual exhibition and who have contributed widely to other fields of community service.

To them and to their like numbers from other centres in B.C. and the Yukon, go the good wishes of the city, accompanied by the hope that they will be able to expand still further their opportunities to help in the development and the administration of affairs in this province.

P.E.I. Liberals Win Again

THE SWEETING LIBERAL VICTORY in Prince Edward Island stands as a personal triumph for Premier Alex Matheson whose government has been returned to office with 27 of the 30 seats.

It was Mr. Matheson's first general election as leader and the result reflects appreciation of the party's accomplishments. He and his followers stood on the record and the record was impressive to the voters.

Perhaps the most notable feature of the result was the reduction of Conservative strength from six seats to three.

While the election was fought largely on local issues—and in many cases the vote was close—the Conservatives made no substantial show of strength and Tory policies have not appealed to the people.

At this distance the verdict may cause some speculation. Though the Matheson victory reflects great credit on the Liberal Party—which has won for the sixth consecutive time—it raises question over the health of the two-party system on Prince Edward Island. The Conservatives, the sole opponents in the election, do not appear to have provided an adequate alternative to the government. The overwhelming success of the Liberals suggests a condition which leaves the opposition voice, an imperative factor in our system of government, reduced to a mere whisper.

'Getting Crowded Around Here, Isn't It, Chum?'

Chips

BY DAVID BUCK

LONG and long ago, away back in the nasty old Province of Ontario, my father went to school, though he took no permanent harm from it and in fact turned out to be quite nice. (To put it mildly.) And at that little old red schoolhouse he had a reader with a poem in it (to put it generously) and the poem began, "My little dears who learn to read..." I think that would be a charming way to start a column: "My little dears who learn to read..."

It puts things on the proper footing. The right tone of patronage, without which a columnist and his reader feel uneasy. Toujours la politesse. Well, my little dears (who learn, very slowly, to read), the time has come to speak of Father's Day.

FATHER'S DAY

THE ads tell me that Father's Day is upon me. As a fully registered and paid-up father, I protest. I don't like fathers. On the whole, I consider them a pack of bums. Fatherhood brings out the beast in them. The psychiatrists tell me that fathers are only one degree better than mothers. Than which. Parents are about the awfulest thing that ever happens to a kid, the poor little devil. There ought to be some way he could sue them, and I dare say that when Dr. Brock Chisholm becomes our national Father Figure he may be able to arrange that.

Mind you, Dr. Chisholm's grandchildren may swing round and start sticking up for parents. They may write articles and speeches entitled "Should Children Punish Parents?" I like the sound of those articles and speeches. I think I'll write a few myself, for one of my grandparents was born in Ireland, though he had the wit to leave that black and angry little island, where the national hobby is to feel gyped and explain why. A fault that is also common among the Scotch and Welsh. The Cornishmen, on the other hand, keep nice and quiet. Good old Cornwall. Cornwall is where grown-up men call each other "My dear," my dear." I love that. Nice frame of mind.

Where were we? Oh yes, Father's Day. I have thought of one way of brightening this rather piffing little festival. Let us take all the familiar words and phrases with the word "mother" in them and change this word to "father." Mother Nature will become Father Nature, and mother wit will be father wit, and so on. I'm not certain yet, but I'm even toying with the idea of changing moths to faths.

NO COMPLAINTS?

A FEW weeks ago a Victoria man told The Times, on his return from Johannesburg, that "he could not understand the present complaint of Zulu mine boys and their supporters regarding government plans to wipe out their slum homes and put the mine workers in new accommodation elsewhere." A friend of mine, who had also been to Johannesburg recently, read this interview in The Times, and snorted in derision. How would anyone like it, he asked, to be moved out of his own freehold property, bought with years of sweat, and sent to a leasehold property twelve miles farther from his job? And the twelve miles have to be covered by means of the most impossible bus service. Perhaps not all the cases are as shocking as this. But there are enough like this to make the complaints fairly easy to understand!

LOTS OF COMPLAINTS

ANOTHER letter, from a different pal: I must tell you about the London bus conductor the other night, on a late bus nearly empty of passengers. He finally sat down and started to read a travel booklet. A couple of young girls asked where he was going. "Belgium," says he. "Ooo, aren't you lucky!" says they, all cuteness. "Lucky? Not me!" says he. "When I'm lucky I'm going to Switzerland."

IT'S IN THE AIR

CLIPPED from an English paper (don't know which one): A motorist was held up at a level-crossing in Somerset. After a while an ancient gatekeeper teetered out onto the middle of the track, looked up and down the line, and then said, "There's trains about."

A PEEK AT OTTAWA

Mr. Howe Will Stay—Trip 'Down Under' Changed His Mind

REPORTS that Trade Minister Howe is contemplating retirement appear unfounded as sources close to the cabinet claim that the indefatigable minister has returned from Australia prepared to carry on in his role as No. 2 man in the government. Certainly prior to his departure for Australia he was fed up and made no secret of his feelings. He had been bitterly disappointed over the failure of Trans-Canada Pipelines to complete its financing arrangements and annoyed at some of his cabinet colleagues because they did not see eye to eye with him in regard to what should be done to speed the construction of the all-Canada pipeline. But during his Australian tour he overcame his disappointment and returned to Ottawa ready to continue for a while longer in the cabinet.

He now refers to the young members of the cabinet as the "Junior Leaguers" and appears inclined to agree that they need experienced old hands like himself around until they have learned the ropes. However, Mr. Howe by his statement in the Commons, when asked if the newspaper reports of his retirement were accurate, did little to dispel them.

Later sources close to Mr. Howe said he had meant by his statement in the Commons to deny that he had any intention of resigning in the immediate future.

DEFENSE COSTS

Attempts by the opposition to learn what it is costing Canada to build her share of the huge radar defense network in the north have met with no success. Last week when External Affairs Minister Pearson tabled the agreements between Canada and the United States for the construction of the Distant Early Warning (D.E.W.) line he was queried about the costs of the mid-continent line of McGill fence, which is being constructed by Canada.

Mr. Pearson said there is nothing secret about the cost of that line but that he did not have the figures as they were not yet available. Nor could he give the proportions of cost borne by the two countries in respect to the three lines. He said the situation had not changed from principles laid down in the official statement made Feb. 22 by the Prime Minister. But on that date Mr. St. Laurent said that for "security reasons" it was not desirable.

TARIFFS

The Canadian Government is acting coy over its negotiations with other GATT nations to bring about a tariff increase on imported cans of mixed fruit or fruit salad. Finance Minister Harris and Trade Minister Howe both declined to confirm that the negotiations had been started. However, informed sources both at Ottawa and Washington have stated that Canada has consulted with the Americans to withdraw the lower tariff extended to the U.S. under GATT. If the Americans consent and Parliament passes a resolution implementing a tariff increase it will cost the Canadian consumer more money for the canned fruit salad, a popular dessert in many homes.

As Our Readers See It

"RECOVERY INC."

What becomes of patients after they leave Crease Clinic gives one food for thought. It is a subject in which every mature adult should be interested and feel some responsibility, in view of the fact that more hospital beds are now occupied by those suffering from nervous disturbances and mental diseases than all other conditions combined, plus the increasingly heavy financial toll on our country.

Doubtless there needs to be some rest home with an understanding superintendent for those persons who have no home to go to on release from the clinic, where they may have peace of mind, good food and surroundings, until such time as they are equal to cope with the housing and employment problems. Otherwise much, if not all of the work done by the Clinic must often be lost, not to mention the suffering and anguish to the individual who feels himself slipping.

In 1953 a Dr. Low of Chicago, formed an organization there named Recovery, Inc. This organization is similar to Alcoholics Anonymous, and I have heard from a friend who lives in Milwaukee, Wis., and who was instrumental last year in forming a branch there, that it is proving of inestimable value and has already obtained wonderful results.

In a number of cases, Recovery Inc. has brought people to full recovery where psychiatry, treatment in a state or private institution, had failed entirely.

I understand members of these groups meet at regular intervals. Needless to say there is a sympathetic M.D. in the group, but to a great extent the value comes through a sense of belonging to a group among whom they feel sympathy and understanding of their condition, rather than that feeling of being an outcast, sometimes even among members of their own family who so often, through lack of understanding, imagination and ignorance, always advocate "snap out of it," "keep busy," etc., etc.

UNIONS AND POWER

It is becoming increasingly clear that monopoly power is the major objective of those who frame and impose the policies of trade unions in North America. Monopoly is the power concept which denies the rights of individuals and destroys the opportunity of bona fide bargaining.

The nature of the drive for so-called "union security" is revealing. Union security actually means the security of union officers in their positions of monopoly power.

When they ask for the "check off" they are asking for the guaranteed preservation of their own positions of control. What they really seek is security from the fear that their union would not survive as a voluntary organization—the fear, no doubt justified, that a majority of members would quit the union if they had the chance.

When a union official asks for the power to have dues collected by the employer from everyone, just as the government collects taxes, he is saying in effect that he seeks to rule individual workers with a monopoly power equivalent to that of government.

ABOLISH THE SENATE

One of the bits of good business the Ottawa government should do before the session closes is to completely abolish the Senate.

It is the most expensive piece of business I ever heard of. It is also a waste of the public's money. These positions have usually been given to defeated candidates in past elections. There are many better and more Christian ways the money could be used.

It will be a feather in the cap of any member of a government who votes to abolish the positions. Any member we send to the House to represent us should be, and I believe some are, quite capable of doing anything these senators do.

Many of the Senators are far too old to hold jobs of this kind. The general public is not as dumb as it has been in the past and is using its thinking blocks a bit better for the benefit of the people.

At the next election, I for one, won't vote for any member in my district who won't demand that Senators' jobs be abolished in Canada for all time.

I would greatly appreciate it if you could be so kind as to give me a little space in your paper to ask a kindness of any of your readers on behalf of the Heatherbelle Dog Obedience Training School.

The school is giving displays of obedience work in costume and set to music for the Solarium, hospitals, nursing homes and other philanthropic activities free of charge, and the school is in great need of some light sun helmets (Sola Topi) for dogs to wear.

Wonderful Town

(Third of a series)

THE day before we arrived in Spokane, the news-wires carried a story to the effect that a crank had called police and announced that a bomb would go off in the Davenport Hotel at 7 o'clock that evening.

People who allow themselves to be intimidated by crackpots are the acquiescent aides of anarchy; we like the Davenport and decided to say there, bombs or no bombs. As it turned out, the bomb was no problem; the problem was to get a room in this famous caravanserai.

The good people of Spokane, it developed, refused to take the threat seriously. When the police came through the hotel, guests merely picked up their salad-plates, stood in the streets while the search went on, and regarded the whole affair with amused detachment. The Chronicle quoted the chief of police as saying that "99 per cent of the people in the hotel thought it was a fake." The next day the Davenport was doing a roaring business, and washing its silver as of old.

Spokane, which calls itself "the friendly city," has a character all its own. It combines some of the breeziness of the old frontier town with the dynamism of a place which knows it's prosperous, progressive and dated with destiny.

Its shops are as smart as any you'll find in the Pacific Northwest and their salespeople will go to any lengths to help you find what you're looking for. The streets are clean and out on the surrounding hillsides, dotted with jack-pine, you can find $100,000 homes of impressive design and beauty.

Building permits in Spokane last year totalled $40 millions, a mark of the town's progress. The effective buying power per family is $5,595. Most of this wealth comes from lumber (one-fourth of the U.S. supply comes from the Inland Empire's 600 saw-mills); mining (silver, copper, gold and lead in vast dimensions); agriculture, and the hydro-electric power which now serves Kaiser's two giant aluminum plants in the area.

On the cultural and recreational side, Spokane has a fabulous Coliseum (recently featured in Life magazine) which seats 9,000; a fine museum of Indian arts and crafts; six golf courses and 3,000 acres devoted to public parks, including 15 supervised playgrounds. Publisher of the city's two newspapers is W. H. Cowles, internationally-known for his quiet devotion to the ideals of press freedom; he is undoubtedly the dominant personal figure of his area.

In Spokane we had the best meal of our entire tour. The Davenport has installed a plus new room called The Matador, which promises, in its advertising folders, "the romance of a rose secretly thrown from a darkened window."

As you have doubtless surmised, the decor is Spanish, and when madam sits down at her table, she is presented with a single red rose. On the walls are colorful posters of the matadors and poor old El Toro, who looks even better on your plates than on the wall. Everything served in the room flames, steams or hisses, including a drink known simply as "The Bomb."

When you're finished your steak, a smiling Nubian hands you—of all things—a serviette into which hand-lotion has been steamed. And then, to cap off the meal, you can drink a really wonderful libation called "Cappuccino." I took exhaustive notes on this; it's a special coffee and chocolate blended together with steam and then laced with brandy.

There's only one catch: to make it, you have to have a machine especially imported from Italy. It looks like an atomic reactor and what it produces has a distinctly nuclear effect. Hole!

ON THE TIMES

The Gentle Art of Conversation

By ART STOTT

THE United Press didn't carry very much on the remarks of Victoria's Mrs. Lillian Evans, who, as president of the Canadian Parent-Teacher Association, spoke to the National Education Association meeting in Chicago Monday.

But the news service did report enough to emphasize her call for a return of the family to the dining room and the dining table.

"Eating today," she said, "is largely off the snack bar, or the corner of the kitchen sink, a TV tray or maybe a sandwich on the run." She contended that the family at the dining table develops natural conversation and each member learns to accept the opinions of others without getting upset.

Now in our menage (and perhaps the word should have "rie" added to it) we do a fair amount of table eating. Nobody dines from the corner of the kitchen sink. There isn't room there. It's covered with school books during term and wet bathing suits during vacation. I haven't got around to making a snack bar, we don't own TV and the kids aren't handed a sandwich on the run. They have to make their own.

Consequently the dining room table gets a fair amount of use, when the girls aren't dressmaking on it. But if meals there have promoted a desirable natural conversation, the development has escaped me.

JUST TOO NATURAL

Natural conversation there is, embarrassingly natural.

It starts with the idiom of the day: "There was this..." Obviously the children are under the French influence—"il y a" which frequently opens a sentence in that language—a cultural by-product, no doubt, of our bilingualism.

Anyhow it goes this way: "There was this guy..." "There was what?"

"There was this guy, wadja think I said, dog?"

"What guy?"

"Quit reaching for the butter, ask someone to pass it."

"Anyhow, there was this guy and he was up, see, and the count was two and two, runners on first and third..."

"Will ya please pass the butter and shudup about baseball?"

"Get it yourself, you're not paralyzed."

"Listen, kids, will you quit acting like animals? You're at the dinner table. Isn't it time you learned to behave?"

"Okay, so there was this guy and he was up, see, and the count was two and two..."

"Aw shaddup, shaddup."

"Look, both of you, do you want to take your plates to the kitchen?"

"Okay, what are we havin' for dessert?"

"If you don't quit snarling, there won't be any dessert for you, none at all."

MODEL FOR RHETORIC

"Gee, I was only trying to tell you about the ball game. Dizzy Dean says..."

"Son, there are a lot of conversationalists you might pattern yourself on rather than Dizzy Dean."

"Yeah, but he's good. He knows ball. And you oughta hear him talk with half a hot-dog in his mouth."

"You trying to imitate him?"

"Okay, let's skip it. Just the same it was a good game with these two runners, one on first, the other on third..."

"Lookit. She's gotta wash the dishes faster tonight. I'm going out and I'm not going to hang around while she reads a book before she starts washing. Why do I always have to hang around waiting for her? You'd think she owned the joint. Why she..."

"Please, children, quiet, quiet, QUIET. How can we ever take you out to dinner when you behave this way at the table?"

"You take us out, we'll learn. Only take us where we can get 'seconds'."

As Mrs. Evans was saying, what this country needs is a return to the dinner table. What that would do for conversation.

U.S. Gifts Of Wheat Hit Canada Sales

Growing Trade
Off This Year

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Canadian sales of wheat to Japan, her second best customer, had been cut due to the operations of the United States surplus disposal program for its agricultural products, members of the parliamentary committee on agriculture learned Thursday.

"We have had good sales to Japan this year but they are not up to last year's sales. They are not holding up largely because of the competition from the United States 'give away' policy which has seen American grain going to the people of Japan," W. Riddell, commissioner of the wheat board, said.

The U.S. had "given away" wheat to Japan, he explained, in reply to questions. The American policy was definitely cutting into Canada's wheat sales to Japan, he told the committee.

Canada's sales to Japan of wheat and flour in the equivalent of wheat had totaled 40,416,379 bushels in the crop year 1953-54. In the crop year 1952-53 the Canadian sales to Japan totaled only 14,961,910 bushels.

In this crop year the sales to Japan had fallen below the sales of the last year. However, Mr. Riddell did not give any figures for the current crop year sales. George McIvor, chief commissioner of the wheat board, said he had noted that the United States under its surplus disposal program was shipping wheat to Italy. He believed there was an arrangement between Italy and the U.S. under which the latter accepted Italian currency for its wheat sales. This, too, would cut into Canadian sales.

2 Killed in Crash Of D.E.W. Line Plane

EDMONTON (CP)—A four-engine air freighter loaded with a cargo of explosives for defence installations on the Arctic coast crashed and burned Thursday in northwest Edmonton, killing its crew of two.

The plane, an Avro York owned by Associated Airways Ltd., failed to clear a structure at the end of the runway and plowed into freight cars in the Canadian National Railways yard beyond the runway.

Dead are pilot William Highton, 31, of West Hartlepool, England, and co-pilot Donald William Horton, 23, of Fort Garry, Man.

The plane was bound for secret bases along the Distant Early Warning (DEW) line of radar stations on the Arctic coast. Its first stop was to have been Fort Smith, N.W.T., 450 miles north of here. It carried a cargo of blasting powder which hampered efforts of firemen to extinguish the blaze. Eye witnesses said it crashed between 2:20 and 2:25 p.m., setting ablaze several oil tankers and about 16 freight cars. The wreckage still smoldered 90 minutes later.

314 CANDIDATES NAMED

TORONTO (BUP)—Ontario's June 9 election shaped up today as a three-way fight in almost every riding.

Nominations closed Thursday, leaving 314 candidates in the field for the province's 98 constituencies. The reigning Conservatives named 97, one more than the opposition Liberals, and the CCF entered 81.

The Labor-Progressive (Communist) party, which has one member in the Legislature, will try to add 31 more. Nine candidates are Independents or list no political affiliation.

Immigration Department To Appeal Manson's Order

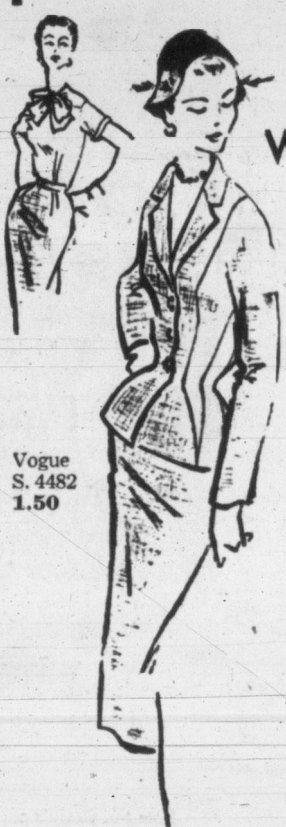

VANCOUVER (CP)—The immigration department is going to question the right of Mr. Justice A. M. Manson to quash a deportation order against an Australian woman and her infant son. Mr. Justice Manson last week declared an order to send Mrs. Spaulding back to Australia was "utterly indefensible" because evidence was taken while she was out of the inquiry room. George L. Murray, who filed the appeal for Immigration Minister Pickersgill, will contend Mr. Justice Manson has no jurisdiction in the case while Mrs. Spaulding has an appeal pending to the minister.

ANGERED BY BRIDGE QUESTIONS

Premier Threatens to Call Off Twice Weekly Press Conferences

Premier Bennett Thursday threatened to discontinue his twice weekly press conference in the face of the persistent questioning on the proposed Okanagan toll bridge.

Angered when reporters sought information on engineering recommendations on the bridge, the premier suggested the conferences were being "abused," and continually expressed the government's desire to "let the sunlight in."

The Okanagan bridge, a structure estimated to cost about $10,000,000, will cross Lake Okanagan from Kelowna to Westbank.

Last week, a Vancouver newspaper said engineer Charles A. Andrews, asked to look at the bridge site, had recommended construction of a rock causeway, instead of a bridge.

SAVE $3,000,000

Mr. Andrews, principal engineer for the Washington State Toll Authority, and designer of the famed floating bridge on Lake Washington, in Seattle, said a causeway would cost about $7,000,000, a saving of $3,000,000.

Premier Bennett refused to discuss the report. He said the government "pays no attention" to newspaper stories "that come out of nowhere."

Asked whether the government would reconsider its plans to call tenders on the multi-million dollar bridge in view of Mr. Andrews' recommendation, Premier Bennett said the government would follow the recommendation of the engineering firm it hired to do the job. Swan, Rhodes and Wooster, of Vancouver.

"Tenders will be called in the middle of July," he said. Further questioning brought angry retorts from the premier. He said he had "never heard of" Mr. Andrews.

The premier said the government had an "unqualified" recommendation from Swan, Rhodes and Wooster. He said the recommendation would be made public "in due course."

'Hit-Run' Ship Sunk Schooner Skipper Charges

NORTH SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—An irate Newfoundland skipper said Thursday a high-seas "hit and run" sent his 76-ton schooner to the bottom of the Atlantic off the foggy Nova Scotia coast Tuesday night.

Capt. Samuel Parry, 54, of Bay Lagen, Nfld., said the vessel that sliced the stern off the Miss Glen Burnie gave a single blast on her whistle and disappeared in the murk after the collision.

Capt. Parry and his four-man crew arrived here from the coastal village of Whitehead, where they were landed by the rescue vessel Josephine K.

LONDON (AP)—The television broadcast on the election switched to Cheltenham for the usual brief "niceties" from the local winner and loser.

The winner, incumbent Conservative Major W. W. Hicks-Beach, said how glad he was he had won. Then viewers saw the angry Labor candidate, James Finnigan. He said he wanted to complain of "the calumny of lies and abuse made against my character by the Conservative party of Cheltenham." The TV cameras switched before Finnigan could elaborate.

CANADA WANTS RULING ON UNDERSEA A-TESTS

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canada may ask the United Nations for a legal ruling on United States atomic bomb tests in international waters, as they apply to other countries.

External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson revealed Thursday the government was considering putting before the UN the "problems of international law" related to such tests as the underwater explosion carried out by the U.S. Navy in the Pacific two weeks ago. He stressed that no protest against U.S. experiments was involved.

Socialist leader M. J. Coldwell asked Pearson in an external affairs committee meeting what co-operation between Canada and the United States there is on such tests.

Pearson said Canada was informed of the test shortly before it took place.

Canadian Winners in U.K. Elections

MIXED SUCCESS greeted candidates with Canadian connections in Thursday's British general election. Toronto-born Sir Beverley Baxter retained Southgate for the Conservatives but with a reduced majority. Eric S. T. Johnson, who was a cattle rancher in B.C. from 1923 to 1930, was re-elected Conservative MP for Blackley division of Manchester. Malcolm MacPherson, former lecturer at University of New Brunswick and a Canadian Army major in Second World War, retained his Labor seat in the Scottish burghs of Stirling and Falkirk. Lady Tweedsmuir, daughter of the late Governor-General of Canada, was re-elected Conservative MP for Aberdeen South. Losing to Labor candidates were James Erskine-Shaw, born in B.C. in 1898, who was defeated in Feltham, Middlesex, and Ian Percival, son of a former agent-general for Ontario in London, beaten in Battersea North. Both are Conservatives.

TORY VICTORY FIESTA BUBBLES ON UNTIL DAWN

LONDON (UP) — Tories toasted their election victory with rousing parties and noisy street demonstrations. They gave the worlds largest city a glow reminiscent of the victory days after the Second World War. It lasted until dawn. Thousands jammed the Savoy Hotel, where the King and Queen of Sweden rubbed elbows with actress Marlene Dietrich at the night's most luxurious Conservative celebration. More than 1,000 bottles of champagne were popped open. Outside in Piccadilly Square and Trafalgar Square, throngs ignored a driving rain, refusing to let it dampen the Conservative triumph. Bobby soxers carrying balloons lettered "Come On Tony (Eden)" and young men cheering "up the Tories" crammed around the statue of Eros in Piccadilly. Jubilant Tories marched up and down streets in the heart of the city thumping drums. Probably the only quiet place in Greater London was Labor party headquarters. Clouds of gloom formed over Transport House as the final outcome became apparent.

Tory Majorities Ranged From 69 Up to 48,678

LONDON (Reuters) — Conservative majorities in Thursday's election ranged from a thumping 48,678 votes at Down North, Northern Ireland, to 69 ballots at Bradford, where a Conservative defeated former Labor food minister Maurice Webb.

CHURCHILL WIN ALMOST COST HIM A CIGAR

Woman, 106, Walks to Polls

WELLINGTON (Reuters) — Mrs. Caroline Beale, aged 106, was Britain's oldest voter in the general election Thursday. She insisted on walking to the local polling station.

LONDON (Reuters) — Nobody tipped off the janitor of a public building in north London about the election. Officials found the polling station locked and barred. An official smashed a window and climbed in to open the poll on time at 7 a.m.

WOODFORD (UP) — Sir Winston Churchill won his 15th and perhaps his last election Thursday. In the process, he almost lost his victory cigar.

The result was announced around midnight Thursday at the vote-counting headquarters, where the 80-year-old statesman had a close call with his cigar.

Afraid to take it into the headquarters, Churchill parked the big half-smoked stogie on the radiator of his automobile.

Churchill cigar butts are prime souvenirs but apparently nobody in the crowd of 500 around the car spotted the cigar.

It was still on the radiator when Churchill shyly dodged out for a puff.

Churchill collected 25,069 votes to 9,261 for Labor's Arnold Milner, 44-year-old electrical expert.

LONDON (Reuters) — Geoffrey de Freitas, parliamentary secretary to the Home Office in the last Labor government, was attacked by an angry crowd on Thursday night after his re-election as member for Lincoln.

As he left the hall where the count had taken place, crowds jumped on his car and threw missiles at him, breaking his glasses.

THINKING ABOUT PROFITS?

The people who conduct public opinion polls asked a large number of Canadians this question:

"How big a profit do you think the average Canadian company makes?" Most people thought it was nearly 28% on the income dollar.

Then these people were asked what profit they thought a company ought to make. Most of them thought it was about half as big as that, or around 16%. Actually, Imperial's profit last year was less than one-third of what people thought we made, or a little more than 8%. Of this, just over 4% was distributed to Imperial's shareholders.

The rest went back into the business, to help replace worn-out equipment and meet future needs.

Council Will Lead Ferry Loss Action

Agrees to Head Meeting of Civic Chiefs to Boost Tourist Industry

Victoria City Council agreed Thursday to head a meeting of civic leaders and organizations aimed at solving problems facing the tourist industry through cancellation of Black Ball boat service to Port Angeles.

Council was requested to act on the matter by the Victoria and Vancouver Island Publicity Bureau.

No meeting date was announced but a call for attendance will be issued to city and district MLAs, MPs, transportation companies, municipal and civic officials, Chamber of Commerce and other interested bodies.

The letter to council said that it was anticipated that the withdrawal of the ferry would mean that the tourist business would suffer.

Wednesday, Mayor Claude Harrison and Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said they thought there was a lot of "unnecessary alarm."

They did not think that the tourist demand for shipping service would lessen and the remaining CPR service would be required to provide additional trips. The mayor also thought that a federal subsidy might be possible due to a clause in the original terms of union between Vancouver Island and the rest of Canada. At that time a subsidized shipping service between Victoria and Olympia was promised by Ottawa.

Council also passed a resolution dedicating a triangular city-owned lot at the north-west corner of Tillicum Bridge as a park. This is in accordance with a recommendation from Victoria-Saanich parks and beaches committee. The lot will provide access to the new cement walk planned for the edge of the Gorge, beneath the bridge.

Provincial government superintendent of lands has advised city council that its request for lease of 20 acres in the Industrial Reserve for a heliport site is now under consideration, and that numerous lots are now available. The city has asked for the area between Tyee Road, Johnson Street, Alston Street, Esquimalt Road and the undeveloped Sitkum Road. It is a long-term plan not likely to be required for 20 years according to planner, Air Vice Marshal A. T. Cowley, on whose recommendation the city acted.

Greater Victoria School Board advised council that the Kingston Street School will no longer be used by the board and is accordingly turned back to the city this summer. The board added that the provincial government has been inquiring into the school and may have a use for it. The board said the government would likely contact the city direct.

Council endorsed a letter from the Vancouver Metal Trades Council which will be part of a brief to a federal commission which begins an inquiry into the coastal shipping trade shortly.

The Metal Trades Council is making the bid in conjunction with its Victoria affiliate Council which represents both AFL and CCL shipyard workers. Their brief calls for government action to rebuild Canada's merchant fleet.

It points out that although Canada is one of the largest exporting nations, it uses foreign vessels. The letter pointed out that an upsurge in shipbuilding would mean building up the economy of the Pacific Coast.

It is expected the government would be asked to assist either with subsidies to shipping firms or tariffs on foreign shipping in Canadian ports.

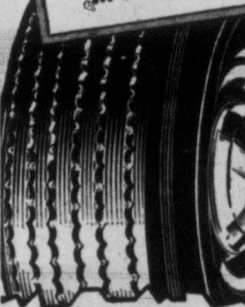

Victoria Building Exchange asked council for a hearing before.

$25,000 City Grant Fund May Be Allocated June 9

The allocation of civic grants proved spending of up to $25,000 from a $25,000 fund set aside for that purpose during estimates is expected to take place at a council meeting June 9. Ald. W. F. Pinfold moved Thursday that the matter be handled by council in committee of the whole at that time and the motion passed.

A plebiscite passed in 1953 approved spending of up to $25,000 in grants to charities and civic groups, many of whom have already made application. It had been reported earlier that the city finance committee planned to ask council to refer the question of grants to the Arts Centre and the Symphony Society to a UBCM convention in October.

By BILL WALKER

Just a hackin' and a diggin'.

And it wasn't really too much of a showing — what happened to Victoria golfers at Vancouver in the B.C. amateur.

But the two flight titles taken by Vic Painter and George Andrews took some of the sting out of the early elimination of city entrants from the championship.

Vic explained it, in part, when he said "the course was playing long, and it took two or three rounds to get used to gauging the distances correctly. It would be a four-iron shot to the green and you'd find yourself standing there with a seven iron in your hand. Nearly everybody had trouble, except Crawford, and he was out there every day that week."

Cup Possibilities

And so, it is now a certainty that two-time champion Lyle Crawford will be named to the B.C. Willingdon Cup team, and off his record, there couldn't be a better choice.

The way we see it, Doug Eklund and Bob Fleming should have two of the other berths, cornered with the fourth spot wide open. Take your pick from Walt McElroy, Kevin Riley, Bob Kidd, Don Elford, Bill McColl and Hugh Morrison, with much to depend on future tournaments.

Locally, the spotlight next falls on the city amateur with Bob Morrison defending as he has done on eight other occasions.

The site is Colwood; the dates, June 5 and 12; the distance, 72 holes of medal play.

Few Invitations Out

According to what we hear only a select few of B.C.'s amateurs will be invited to the $15,000 B.C. open at Shaughnessy, June 29-July 2. Stipulations of the governing PGA being what they are, only the "select" will be selected. And if Victoria gets a bid, Fleming (PGA titlist) and McColl (ISGA champ) appear to stand one, two on the list. Colwood's Bill Court appears a likely candidate too, there being five spots open for B.C. professionals.

Incidentally the list of gold trailers who will show at Vancouver is to be released early next week. And further, don't be surprised if they bust up Shaughnessy's par into little pieces. Ben Colk hinted during his visit here for the B.C. match play final that nothing would be done to "toughen" the course.

If you've been wondering who the "Miss Crawford" is that meets Shirley Naysmith (nee Fry) in the Gorge golf final this week, that's easy. Her first name is Maudie and she's an Irish gal by birth.

Handicap play being what it is, one never knows what to expect. And if you ask George Davies, he'll gladly talk about his 7 and 6 triumph over Painter in the Colwood championships this week. The British Walker Cuppers certainly didn't distinguish themselves in the recent test with the United States, but then it's been 16 long years since there's been a British amateur final that didn't have an American or two in it. That tells the story of how the Yanks have taken over. It really does.

Don't forget, the Cowichan open at the Cowichan Golf and Country Club this Sunday... If you're driving by, drop in; you'll be welcome... and then next Saturday, June 4, it's National Golf Day... that's the time you get a chance to beat U.S. open champion Ed Furgol; the gals play against Babe Zaharias... if you're at all shy on what National Golf Day is all about, it's quite simple... The fee is one dollar and that buck is split down the middle between the Canadian Red Cross and a fund for the development of junior golf... You match Furgol or Mrs. Zaharias using your handicap to what advantage you can... Ed and the "Babe" will shoot their round at the San Francisco Olympic Club, scene of this year's U.S. open.

And know what? Now you can buy nipper-sized clubs; this might save worry, and loss of your own!

V & D Secretary Leo Derman chips in with the reminder that entries for the City Amateur should be in by June 2... Gussie Dyer, former Victoria Club secretary, passes on the info that D. Abbott, a new arrival in the city, is a four handicapper.

IF SOMEBODY FOOTS THE BILL

CAHA Okays Olympic Team

REGINA (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association will enter a team in next winter's Olympic tournament in Italy only if some private concern or the general public pays the bill.

Delegates to the CAHA's annual meeting were told Thursday solutions to the stringent amateur qualifications and financing probably will be found within the next six months. But unless Olympic organizers attempted to harmonize their regulations with the Canadian standard, the basic situation probably would remain unsolved.

The Canadian hockey player who hasn't accepted at least some small token for his services was described as a rarity. The CAHA indicated doubt it can raise from the 70 or 80 players on three Olympic-bidding teams the 17 players who could qualify.

George Dudley of Midland, Ont., CAHA secretary-manager, said as the five-day annual meeting ended the association "would find considerable clamor in Canada" if it decided against sending a team overseas, yet there remains "the hypocrisy" of amateur standards. Olympic officials were clinging to their "hide-bound Victorian ideas" of amateurism and had forgotten "the realities of sport."

EXECUTIVE TO DECIDE

Financial help, he said, may come from a national non-commercial organization which would have "no trouble whatever" raising the necessary $25,000-plus to sponsor the team for advertising benefits.

As an alternative, the CAHA could appeal to fans to pay something extra at the gate toward financing the trip.

The entire Olympic question has been left to the CAHA executive.

Collier Gains Fame, Hurls No-Hit Game

Another no-hitter went into the record books Thursday night as Don Collier of Victoria Police set down Mawson Gage without a safety for a 6-0 win in Pony League action at Carnarvon Park.

UNASSISTED TRIPLE PLAY

Art Davey, shortstop for Wagner's News in the Utility Softball League, pulled off an unassisted triple play Thursday night as his team clipped McEwan's, 12-6.

The bases were loaded with none out when Davey speared a line drive, tagged a runner leading off second and ran down the third man as he attempted to scamper back to first base.

Jocelyn Gets No-Hitter; Fourth Win

Jocelyn Richmond made her fourth straight start on the mound for Individuals of the women's Softball League Thursday night, and picked this time to come up with a no-hitter and her fourth straight win.

The 3-2 victory came over Copley Brothers at Central Park, and Miss Richmond now has allowed only eight hits and three unearned runs in 30 innings of play.

Copleys took a two-run lead in the fifth inning on a walk and three errors, but Individuals tied it up in the sixth when Joy Wilson doubled in a run and later scored.

Miss Wilson then pounded out a triple in the bottom of the seventh to drive in Pat Mason with the winning run.

Losers were Marie Cooper, who had a one-hitter going until the sixth inning.

Dave Cooper of Victoria and Ladysmith's Digger O'Dell will resume their stock car feud Saturday night at Western Speedway when the fourth meet of the season gets under way. Cooper has bested O'Dell in two of the first three main events this year.

Also bucking for top honors will be rough and ready Mike Newton, whose car broke an axle after he had won the trophy dash on Monday's holiday card.

A field of 30 stock cars is expected for the meet, including newcomers Mel Preston, Billy Foster and Don Boyes.

Time trials start at 7.30.

Best man at the plate was Barry Saddler, who picked up three hits. Collier, Patterson and Don Schwandt each connected for two safeties.

In a Babe Ruth League game at Beacon Hill Park, UCT moved into a first-place tie with McCall-Davey by blanking Till-cums, 9-0, on the two-hit pitching of Dave Emery.

Emery struck out the first 12 men to face him, and lost his no-hitter in the fifth inning when John Davis singled. Emery ended up with a season's high of 18 strikeouts, while walking three. He knocked out a triple and single from the plate, while Gerry Booth slammed out a home run.

Unknown Leads Fort Wayne Golf

PORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, who has never won a major golf tournament, set the pace for some of North America's top pros Thursday in the first round of the $15,000 Fort Wayne open.

Finsterwald shot 11 pars and seven birdies for a seven-under-par 32-33—65 to take the first day lead.

A stroke behind with 34-32—66 was George Bayer of Cincinnati, former pro football player.

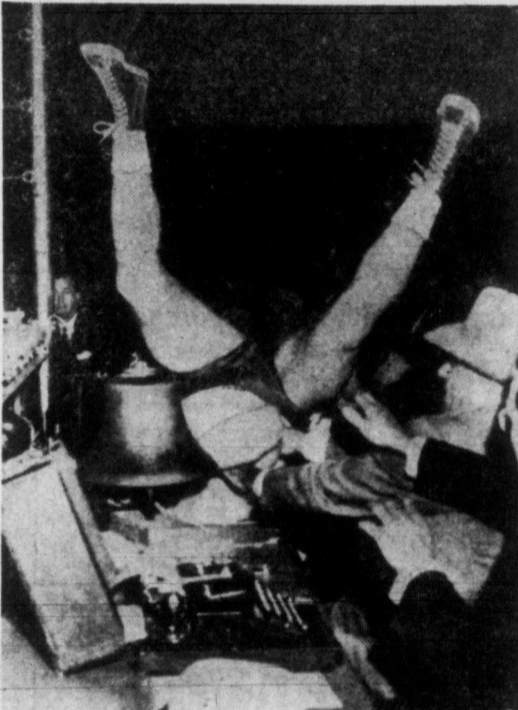

Tied for third with 67s at the end of the first 18 holes were Jerry Kesseling of Kitchener, Ont., with a 31-36 and Bob Rosburg of San Francisco, 34-33.

FRASER VALLEY WINS

BELMONT, N.Y. (CP)—Fraser Valley, a three-year-old grey gelding owned by Alberta Ranches of Calgary, won a popular victory in the third race at Belmont Park Thursday.

HEAD TO HEAD but not quite nose to nose, these three horses came within a nostril of ending in a triple dead heat at Golden Gate Fields, San Francisco. Thumb Nail (3), Fred Scheih up, and Tole Call (8), Ralph Neves aboard, shared first and second money while Provincial (2), Taylor Powell in the irons, just missed making it a three-way finish. Heaneys Win Title; Esquimalt Nips Bays Heaneys clinched the Victoria and District Football Association first division championship the easy way Thursday night, winning by default when last-place Victoria West failed to turn up for their scheduled game at Lansdowne Park.

Heaneys won the game and title by lining up, taking the ball from the kickoff and scoring on an unguarded net, just to make it official.

Meanwhile, centre forward Ken Barnes of Esquimalt scored all the goals for his club as they edged JBAA, 4-3.

After Fuzz Blair opened the scoring for JBAA, Barnes fired three straight goals to give Esquimalt a 3-1 lead at the half.

Don Hendry fired two goals for JBAA in the second half, but Barnes' fourth goal kept Esquimalt's victory safe.

WEIRD DISPLAY

Nobody Wanted It, Until Duncan Won It

With darkness falling gently about them at Athletic Park Thursday night, Duncan and Capitals of the Lower Island Senior Amateur Baseball League tossed some weird defensive tactics at each other before Duncan found itself a winner for the first time this season, 9-8.

The game was called after the eighth inning because of the gloom, but before the end Duncan had committed nine errors and Capitals, six.

Everything was proceeding reasonably smoothly going into the seventh inning, with Capitals leading, 4-3, on a three-run outburst in the fifth.

Then Duncan shoved across three runs on three hits, an error by catcher Weatherall when his pick-off attempt at first hit the runner, and a balk by pitcher McGill.

Five Pils Cited In Near Riot

Salmonbellies 10, Pilseners 6

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—A special Inter-City Lacrosse League commission meeting has been called for tonight to discuss the fate of five Vancouver Pilseners players facing disciplinary action.

The five were put on report Thursday night for their part in a brawl here between players and taunting fans.

New Westminster won the game 10-6.

The players included in referee Syd Greenwood's report to the league commission were Sam Sakich, Bob and Jack Marsh, Elmer Matthews and Ted Hunt.

Salmonbellies went into third place, one point up on Indians by virtue of the victory.

Also scheduled for decision at Friday night's meeting is Mount Pleasant Indians' protest of their 9-8 loss to New Westminster on May 19.

Bob Marsh was the centre of a near-riot that spread into the stands midway through the fourth period when he drew a two-minute penalty and a misconduct for throwing his stick at Greenwood. The match misconduct carries an automatic indefinite suspension.

WATER PISTOL IN USE The flare-up occurred when several fans sitting behind the Pilseners playing bench taunted Marsh by shooting at him with a water pistol.

Marsh, who lost his temper when Greenwood "tagged" him with a minor penalty for throwing a body block into the crowd, leaped into the crowd followed by his brother Jack, Sakich, Matthews and Hunt.

Sakich tried to break up the battle but Greenwood put his name down "because no player may go into the stands, for any reason."

At one point, Hunt and Salmonbellies' Don Sepka were given five minute penalties for fighting. They were quickly joined by Jim Kinna of Pils and Westminster's Doug McRory.

Senior B Boxla Lead Anybody's Plum Now

Two undefeated teams will clash head-on Tuesday night with first place in the Senior B Lacrosse League at stake.

Foul Bay girded up for the battle Thursday night by whipping Navy, 18-3, at Stevenson Park. The victory left Foul Bay in a first-place tie with Junior Shamrocks. The undefeated clubs meet Tuesday night at Stevenson Park at 6.30.

With one undefeated streak due to be burst.

With Chummy Crabbe slamming the door on the Foul Bay nets, the winners held an 8-0 lead at half time. Foul Bay added three goals in the third quarter to one for the sailors but the winners went wild again for a seven-goal outburst in the last quarter while the sailors picked up two tallies.

Art Green, utility man for Victoria Shamrocks in the Inter-city Lacrosse League, was the bright scoring light for Foul Bay Thursday, scoring two goals and drawing assists on five others. Foul Bay's other Art Green, Jack Milburn and Gordie Bamford scored hat tricks. Frank Gower picked up a pair of goals and single tallies were scored by Walt Harris, Jack Sims, Mel Davidson, Jackie Reid and Don Pimlott. Navy's goals were scored by Paul LaPointe, Andy Anderson and Foster.

ROCKS SEEK REVENGE IN CLASH WITH TRIBE

Larry Booth will be out of the line-up tonight at Vancouver when Victoria Shamrocks attempt to extract a measure of revenge at the expense of Mount Pleasant Indians.

Rocks will be protecting their hold on first place in the Inter-city Lacrosse League and will be out to atone for the whipping they took from Indians in their first game of the season.

Booth is unable to make the trip for business reasons.

Booth's place on the forward line will be taken by utility player Art Green, who will work with Whitey Severson and Pee-wee Bradshaw.

CITY SHARES THIRD

Services Can't Locate Key

United Services dropped their seventh game of the season Thursday night at Central Park. Victoria City thumped them 11-0.

The two points moved the City team into a third place tie in the Senior A Men's Softball League.

Coach Bud Ross took his regular turn on the hill for City and he could have won pitching from a rocking chair. The losers were about as cold as the weather. They managed to get one runner as far as third base.

Victoria City scored in every inning but the fourth and eighth. They picked up 15 hits including a two-run homer by Len Anderson in the third inning, and everyone on the line-up managed to get at least one hit.

Tonight Chinese Students tangle with Cec Fletcher's. Students have a chance to move into a second-place tie with the city. On the other hand Fletcher could gain a share of first place with a win. Game time is 6.30 p.m.

ONE QUALITY—THE BEST

OUTDOOR FRONT

With DENNY BOYD

The time-honored Angler's Prayer will be reverently mumbled by dozens of pairs of lips Saturday night on the eve of the annual 10-week Ladder Derby qualifying scramble.

And around dawn on Sunday, the owners of those lips will be scurrying to their favorite haunts in Saanich Inlet while visions of power boats, radio-TV phone combinations, kitchen sets and waffle irons dance through their heads.

Co-chairman Don Keirs and Jack Clyde are ready. They have a dozen pencils sharpened and have their weekly ladder record charts all laid out, ready for the 500 names that will be hanging from the available rungs when the qualifying period ends, August 1. They have their most apologetic smiles warmed up for the first guy who gets knocked off a weekly ladder because his six-pounder finished 51st in a field of 50.

No-one is neglected in this derby. If you fail to qualify for the master ladder and its August 21 fish-off, you still have a chance to collect some booty in the Duffer's Derby. This is for the also-rans, the guys who got knocked off one of the weekly ladders.

The 500 anglers who weigh in a fish heavy enough to hold a rung in one of the 10 weekly qualifying ladders automatically land on the master ladder. After the 10 weeks, these 500 will have a two-week layoff to sharpen their hooks and cut some fresh herring strip. Then, on August 21, they take over Saanich Inlet to fish for $3,000 in handsome prizes.

One week previous, the Duffers hold their fishoff for $1,500 in prizes and the striking Ming's Kitchen Trophy, donated by Poon Wong, who is no mean fisherman himself.

Two Tickets to Fishing Fame

Briefly, here's what you do to get in on the fun. First of all, you purchase a membership in the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association, the power behind the derby. This purchase makes you a full-fledged association member, eligible for all VSIAA functions and privileges.

When you are ready to go fishing, you buy a derby ticket for the sum of one buck. Both membership and derby tickets are available at any sporting goods store or boathouse. And for heavens sake, when you go out fishing, be sure to take both tickets with you. You can't register a fish without them and sure as anything, the day you forget them will be the day you'll get your fish.

We'll assume now that you have your fish in the boat. If he's 20 pounds or better, run, do not troll, to the nearest weigh-in station and enter your fish. If it's a six or seven-pounder, don't ask me. It's your buck. The fish might hold on to a ladder rung or you might get knocked off the day you weigh in. That's where the gamble comes in. But any time you do weigh in a fish, be sure to purchase another derby ticket.

Most indications point to a breakaway start this week-end. There are big springs in Saanich Inlet, just spoiling for a fight.

Springs Ready for Big Day, Too

Jimmy Gilbert, back in the guiding business after a year at University of British Columbia, recommends Tod Inlet in the early morning or evening and advises the use of herring strip or minnow and flasher.

Jimmy says Bob Redgrave Jr., picked up springs weighing 18, 15 and 10 pounds in Tod Inlet and Tommy Moss had 14 and 10-pounders. Jimmy says a concentration of big herring in Tod Inlet makes for good fishing.

The Goldstream report, courtesy of May Hall, tells of big springs being taken from Goldstream Island into Misery Bay and across to Chesterfield Rock.

For instance, Doug Bray and his wife (he's the guy who never gets skunked) took 18 and 18½-pounders and three smaller on one day and two days later, Doug had to quit fishing early because he had his limit of five springs, eight to 10 pounds. Jack Mace took a 20½-pounder on a Squid near Chesterfield Rock and Arnold Brown and Mike Darling had 17-pounders on Squids.

Up at Brentwood the Anchorage reports spring action at McKenzie Bay, Willis Point, Bamberton to Mill Bay and Cole Bay. P. V. Humphries was the top fisherman of the holiday week-end in that area with a 17-pounder on Saturday, a five-pounder on Sunday and a 16-pounder on Monday.

Betty Hicks Golf Leader

DETROIT (UP)—Betty Hicks, the sixth leading money winner among the lady professionals last year, carried a slim one-stroke lead today into the second round of the Wolverine Ladies' Open golf tournament.

The miss from Palm Springs, Calif., toured the 6,413-yard Forest Lake Country Club layout in a 75-72 Thursday, three strokes under women's par for the course.

Closely pressing Miss Hicks for the lead in the $5,000 open were Peggy Kirk Bell, Detroit, and Betty Dodd, San Antonio, Tex. they carded 73's in first round competition.

REGINA (CP)—Jimmy Dunn of Winnipeg was elected president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association at the close of the five-day annual meeting here Thursday. He succeeds W. B. Baldy George of Kempville, Ont.

AUSTIN, Tex.—Melvin Barker, 116, Austin, outpointed Danny Cardenas, 125, San Antonio (10).

Braves Stewing In Their Own Brew

Yankees Increase AL Lead

By The Associated Press

This was supposed to be the year the Braves finally cooked up a National League pennant, what with their power, speed, pitching and all. But as of now, the only thing brewing in Milwaukee is beer.

Bobby Thomson, Joe Adcock and Eddie Mathews were to supply the power. Warren Spahn was to lead a dandy pitching staff to greatness. Even manager Charlie Grimm's ulcers were in great shape.

So what happens? Braves aren't even playing .500 ball. And after Thursday's 5-4 defeat by Cincinnati, they're barely ahead of fifth-place Redlegs.

Thomson, whose injury helped explain 1954's third-place finish, started well, but now is hitting .213 with only seven runs batted in for the last 14 games.

Adcock is batting .244, with just one hit in his last 14 at bats.

ONLY CONLEY OKAY

Spahn, set for a seventh 20-victory season, is 3-6. Only Gene Conley, at 6-1, is going well.

And Mathews has been sidelined by an appendectomy just when he was starting to get the range. In his last four games he hit half of his six home runs and batted in seven runs. Without his bat Braves have lost six of seven—three by one run.

Thursday's defeat left them two percentage points ahead of Redlegs and 10½ back of first-place Brooklyn Dodgers, who beat Pittsburgh 6-2.

Runner-up Chicago Cubs kept up their surprising pace, dropping St. Louis into sixth as veteran Howie Pollet spun a six-hit shutout 3-0. In the lone night game, New York lost 3-2 in 11 innings to Philadelphia, which has won four straight after snapping Giants' six-game string.

YANKS BOOST MARGIN

New York Yankees gained a 2½-game American League lead, beating Washington twice 8-4 and 7-3 while Cleveland scrambled to win 10-9 after losing the first game of a doubleheader 3-1 to Chicago White Sox. Baltimore beat Boston 2-0. Train stopped Detroit at Kansas City.

LEADS IN HOMERS

Ted Kluszewski took the National League home-run lead at Milwaukee with his 12th to get Cincinnati rolling on its eighth victory in nine games.

Can Vukovich Make It Three in a Row at Indianapolis Speedway?

Bill Vukovich, "Czar of Zoom" and winner of both the 1953 and 1954 speed classic at the Indianapolis Speedway, roared around the four laps in his Hopkins Special at an average speed of 141.071 to qualify for Monday's great race and shove the former four-lap record into discard.

Vuky, the 36-year-old Slovenian from Fresno, California, emerged as champion in last year's race, driving the 500 miles at an average of 130.84. In the 1953 race he won at 128.740. If he wins again this year, he will only be the fourth driver ever to accomplish this, the others being Louis Meyer, Mauri Rose and the late Wilbur Shaw.

As the trials continue it becomes clear that no driver running less than 139

Jaycees Boost B.C. Membership By 30 Per Cent; Plan to Extend

"Junior Chamber of Commerce membership in British Columbia now stands at 1,050 and comprises 34 units, regional president G. L. Filippelli, Trail, told the 19th annual convention here Thursday.

He said this was a 30 per cent membership increase and a 26 per cent unit increase over 1954. Seven new clubs were formed and eight were chartered.

Within the next three years, he said, efforts would be made to reorganize Summerland, Aldergrove, Osoyoos, Revelstoke, Princeton, Ladysmith and Salmon Arm.

He recommended also formation of Jaycee groups in the larger outlying residential-business areas of Vancouver. This could be done without harming the Vancouver unit.

MONEY NEEDED
The Jaycee president urged the junior chamber groups present—28 units were represented by nearly 350 delegates—to give serious thought to profit-making projects to enable increased travel allowances.

"The directorate must get together to exchange ideas and to learn what is going on in order to properly direct the local units," he said.

On crime comics, he said the "watchdog" committees established by the junior chambers had been noticeably effective throughout B.C. and contributed greatly to alleviating the situation.

Delegates were welcomed by Public Works Minister W. N. Chant and Mayor Claude Harrison.

Mr. Chant said it was the young business men of the province who were putting B.C. on the economic map. The cry today was "go north young man," and the vast potential of northern B.C. bore out this statement.

SERVICE RENDERED
The mayor said the Jaycees in Victoria had rendered the city "a tremendous amount of service."

He approved of the Jaycee-sponsored suggested changes in the Municipal Act which would lower the real property assets needed before young men could run for civic offices.

"This is a right move," delegates were colorful, some in red shirts, others in cowboy and Mexican hats, and those from the president's club, Trail, adorned in red and green caps and shirts.

Chairman of the afternoon meeting was Lorrie Kirk, Victoria.

Japanese Liberals Oppose Rearmament, Quaker Says

The liberal-democratic elements in Japan are opposed to rearmament, Dr. Paul M. Sekiya, a Quaker, and former Japanese soldier said here Thursday.

Addressing an audience in St. John's parish hall, he said that while rearmament "might provide a partial solution in the economic field, we cannot consider this a permanent or desirable solution" to Japan's main problem—supporting her 88,000,000 people.

Consideration of her own safety also encouraged Japan to maintain neutrality, he said. To join with either east or west camp in the world today would make Japan open to attack from either, he said.

Dr. Sekiya joined the Quakers after coming in contact with the World Friends Committee in war relief in Shanghai in 1945.

He is a graduate of Oxford University in theology and has had a distinguished career as a social worker, professor and theologian in the Far East.

Cafes May Escape Liquor Fee But Taverns, Bars May Be Hit

Cafes which sell beer and wine may escape the $100-a-year license proposed recently by council but it was indicated at a council meeting Thursday that beer parlors and cocktail bars may be required to pay between $100 and $200.

The matter has been returned to finance committee for the third time for study and recommendations.

Finance committee recommended recently that cafes which are licensed by the province to sell beer and wine should pay a license to the city of $50 twice a year.

The same recommendation set the amount for beer parlors and cocktail bars at $100 every six months.

Council was on the verge of passing the by-law when Canadian Restaurant Association president, E. Brand warned that five out of eight cafes would have to discontinue all but food sales if the license was applied. He felt the fee would eliminate profits on what to cafes is a sideline.

Council sent the matter back to committee but the committee referred it back to council. City license inspector William Wallace and city solicitor Arthur Paton recommended that fees for restaurants need not be high and suggested a $20 fee.

But beer parlors and cocktail bars, they felt, were new businesses and not sidelines. They recommended a license of $100 for establishments with less than five employees and an additional fee of $7.50 for each additional employee, with a maximum charge of $200.

Monkey Dies After Injection Of Vaccine From Cutter Lab

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (UP)—Research scientists at the University of Utah said today a monkey had died after being injected with Salk anti-polio vaccine from Cutter Laboratories.

Dr. Louis Gebhardt, head of the bacteriology department at the university's medical school, emphasized the cause of the animal's death was undetermined and extensive tests were being made.

He said that 10 monkeys in the school's research laboratory died from pneumonia two months ago.

The dead animal, a male cynomolgus monkey, was injected with the Cutter vaccine about three weeks ago. It died two weeks later.

"We are checking, double checking, and triple checking to determine exactly what caused the animal to die," Gebhardt said. "It could be anything."

Previously, Gebhardt had tested the Cutter and Parke-Davis vaccine on 32 other monkeys and pronounced it safe.

Key Aviation Figures To Attend Meeting Here

The increasingly important role of aviation in the field of industry and business will be stressed at the B.C. Aviation Council meeting to be held in Victoria Sunday and Monday.

William Rundle, convention manager, said today the huge Kitimat-Kemano project of the Aluminum Company of Canada would be cited as a prime example of how helicopters could play a vital role in development, and that attention would be focussed as well on service provided by light planes to remote mining camps in British Columbia.

"Some people still think of planes only in terms of passenger service," Mr. Rundle said. "But aviation today is fulfilling many purposes. Businesses and governments have plans to get personnel from one place to another quickly. Cargo planes are doing a big business."

Attending the two-day conference will be key representatives of the aviation industry in both Canada and the United States.

Weather All Important To Soft Drink Bottlers

Just about everyone is hoping Victoria's weather soon turns fine and summery. But to people engaged in the soft drink business it's particularly important that the summer be a warm one. For summer is their big sales season and the extent of their business each year can be charted fairly accurately just by drawing a temperature graph.

One of those with hopeful eye on the barometer is 38-year-old Edward Gudewill, president of Goodwill Bottling Co., Ltd.

He's recently moved his business to a new, one-story, green and red building at 35 Erie Street. The building was designed specifically as a soft drink bottling plant by Victoria architects Rod Clark and Maurice Clayton, after consultation with Wally Madu, of the Coca-Cola Company, Vancouver.

Goodwill Bottling Co., Ltd., is the successor to Old English Beverage Co., Ltd., which for years was headed by Ira Erb and Ivan Howell. Mr. Gudewill bought the business in June, 1954.

Its location then was 562 Johnson Street, a three-story building which was not particularly suited to fast bottling and easy handling. The new building has two dioxies (bottling assembly lines) and trucks drive right in one side and out the other.

The plant's capacity is 1,200 cases of pop in one, eight-hour day. It employs 15 people—half inside and half on the road—and its territory takes in all of South Vancouver Island, up to, but not including, Duncan. The plant bottles Coca Cola, Chevy Chase ginger ale and the Old English line of soda pops.

Mr. Gudewill provides the interesting information that the plant "dechlorinates" Victoria's water before using it in its Cokes. This is in accordance with strict rules laid down by the Coca Cola Company, which prescribes what ingredients and what precise amounts are to be used in preparing the drink.

"Every bottle of Coke goes by the same formula," Mr. Gudewill explained, "that's why it tastes pretty much the same wherever you go."

The formula for making Coke syrup is said to be a closely-guarded secret of the Coca Cola Company. There's a popular conception that the formula is not written down but carried in the heads of a few individuals, who are not allowed to ride in the same plane together in case of a crash.

It's an unlikely story but is good propaganda for the company.

Syrup for the cokes made here comes from Vancouver in 45-gallon drums. It's pumped into a 200-gallon stainless steel tank on the top of the new bottling plant and gravity fed to the machines below. It takes exactly 13.32 ounces of syrup to make one bottle of Coke.

Pigeons Knew Way Home; Thief Gets 3 Months in Pen

TORONTO (CP)—Ten racing pigeons knew the way home, and, as a result, John Rozewski will spend three months in jail.

Magistrate S. Tupper Bigelow sentenced the 41-year-old Toronto man on a theft charge Thursday after hearing this story: Forty of Charles Richardson's birds were stolen from his loft April 6. A few days later Mr. Richardson visited Richard Parker, another pigeon fancier, and saw 10 birds he thought were his in the Parker loft.

The two men released the birds and they flew straight home to the Richardson loft. Parker testified he had bought the pigeons from Rozewski for $2.50.

Italian Boxer Makes Successful Ring Return

TURIN, Italy (AP)—Italy's deaf-mute bantamweight champion, Mario d'Agata, rated as the No. 2 contender for the world title, Wednesday night won his first fight since he left the hospital a month ago bearing the scars of gunshot wounds. D'Agata, 29, beat Arthur Emboule of Guadalupe by a technical knockout in the eighth round.

Fly-Past in City for Aviation Parley

Victoria will see a fly-past of about 25 light privately-owned aircraft Saturday when delegates to the B.C. Aviation Council conference here race on a predicted time basis from Vancouver via Nanaimo to Patricia Bay, then fly in mass formation over Victoria.

The aircraft will circle the Legislative Buildings here before returning to land at Patricia Bay. Winner will receive the J. B. Slessor trophy.

The conference of the council opens here Sunday at the Empress and will end Monday evening.

The conference will hear notable addresses by experts in the field of aviation, including Ralph Cohen, Montreal, information officer of the International Air Transport Association, and Carl B. Squier, vice-president of Lockheed Aircraft Corp., Burbank, Calif.

Delegates from throughout B.C. will register Sunday and enjoy a scenic bus tour of the area, following a service at Christ Church Cathedral.

Seven outstanding speakers are slated to be heard at various times Monday, including Messrs. Cohen and Squier. Highway Minister P. A. Gagliardi is scheduled to address the noon banquet.

One of the most interesting addresses is expected to be that of Dr. J. B. Warren, University of British Columbia, who will speak on atomic energy and aviation as well as flying saucers and missiles.

Airports and airstrips will be dealt with by Dr. Thomas How,

Missing Soldier's Family Demands Probe

Mother, Brother Disbelieve Reports
Cross Sought Asylum in East Germany

VANCOUVER (CP) — An army investigation will be demanded by the family of a Canadian soldier missing from his unit in Germany.

Pte. Ralph Bernard Cross was reported in East Germany where the Communist news agency ADN said he received political asylum.

ADN quoted Cross as saying he had sought peace in East Germany as a result of impressions gained during his service in the army. He had "come increasingly to the belief that he and his comrades were to be used for a new world war."

Everett Cross, youngest brother of the missing soldier, said he was going to Western Command to have inquiries started.

"He was hot-headed but he would never do this," Everett said. "He really hated communism."

"I don't know what I'm going to ask them to do. I can only cross my fingers when I come to them."

In Ottawa, Defense Minister Campney told the Commons army security is checking on the Cross disappearance.

Mr. Campney said Cross went on leave May 2 and failed to return May 18. He was then listed as absent without leave. The minister said he had no further information on the case.

The soldier has four brothers, a sister and his parents here. A wife and three children live in Moose Jaw and another brother is in the army in Ontario.

His 60-year-old mother said: "He must have been taken by force."

HATED FOREIGNERS

She said he would never join the Reds behind the Iron Curtain "because he hated all foreigners."

"I know my boy," she went on. "I tried to teach him there are good people of every nationality but he would never listen to me."

"He was always picking fights with anyone from another country or spoke with a foreign accent."

"And that speech the Communists said he made—he didn't know half the words in it. He quit school before he finished grade 7."

Cross is a veteran of the Second World War and the Korean war.

Cutter Laboratories Cleared To Manufacture New Vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Surgeon-General announced today all Salk polio vaccine manufacturers have agreed to implement at once revised safety standards. The standards represented "the best that science can give us."

Scheele disclosed Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif., will return to the program under the revised standards. Cutter vaccine has not been used for the last month because some American youngsters injected with it later developed polio.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Stop the Press!

I have just left an emergency meeting of the Save Ripple Rock Association, and news of this meeting must be rushed into print forthwith, without delay, and even at once.

The Save Ripple Rock Association has made a momentous decision, a decision which should have far reaching effect upon this great province of ours.

For the benefit of those who came in late, perhaps I should first review, as briefly as possible, the aims and objectives of the Save Ripple Rock Association.

As its name implies, the association was formed to save Ripple Rock, that sturdy watermark in Seymour Narrows, from destruction through the misguided efforts of engineers who wish to remove it for no other reason than to make it simpler for ship to pass up the bight.

It has been previously reported that one of the main points at issue is the danger of removing Ripple Rock, thus pulling out the plug (as in bathtub) and letting all the water drain out, so Vancouver Island would no longer be an Island, and would, heaven forbid, be connected to Vancouver city.

Well, the Save Ripple Rock Association has been working quietly toward its objective, saving a small stone here, a pebble there, until the Great Day dawns, when it will be able to save The Rock itself.

But these quiet activities were temporarily shelved when the emergency meeting (referred to several hundred ill-chosen words earlier) was called.

At the meeting, it was pointed out a much more pressing problem is at hand; to wit, I.e., and this is it: the danger of losing Juan de Fuca Strait.

Members of the Save Ripple Rock Association were told foul plans are on foot to eliminate Juan de Fuca Strait.

Only yesterday, the members learned, a number of citizens from Port Angeles and Victoria got together, wept on each others' shoulders, and said, with one voice "Something must be done to bring us closer together."

The citizens of Victoria and Port Angeles (when not weeping on each others' shoulders) complained bitterly because Black Ball was no longer running a ferry service, and the citizens said, we must be able to visit each other at any and all times.

Thus it became apparent to the members of the Save Ripple Rock Association that the Vic & P.A. citizens were planning to remove Juan de Fuca Strait, this being the only sensible way of joining the two cities together.

The thought of removing Juan de Fuca Strait caused all the members of the Save Ripple Rock Association to shudder, shake, and call for stimulants (easy on the ice, and just a dash of mixer).

After the stimulants were applied, the members of the association formed a NEW association.

The name of which you can easily guess.

Never fear—the Save Juan de Fuca Association is here. And Juan de Fuca Strait SHALL be preserved for posterity, Cadborosaurus, and what was the name of the latest swimmer again?

TEACHERS' TWO PLUS TWO MAKES FIVE?

A error in scoring at elementary school sports a week ago has resulted in Monterey School gaining back one point which cost them the honors they had held for four years but lost to Willows School.

Standing of the rest of the top five is unchanged. Margaret Jenkins has 21½, Tillicum 14 and Oaklands 12.

Officials apparently forgot that the basis for scoring of relays was altered by the meet organization in 1954 and employed the old method. The new method of scoring changed the picture.

VANCOUVER WOMAN SET FOR TWO LONG SWIMS

A Vancouver woman will attempt to conquer Canada's two most publicized distance swims this summer.

Mrs. Ann Meraw, 36, said Thursday she will tackle Juan de Fuca Strait toward the end of July or early in August, and will enter the Canadian National Exhibition's 32-mile Lake Ontario swim in September.

Mrs. Meraw said she would come to Vancouver Island June 3 to go into training. She will practice near Sidney, where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mundigal, operate a cafe.

She will be coached by Matt Gilroy of the Crystal Pool, Vancouver.

Mrs. Meraw made headlines with her first distance swim in 1938, when she splashed from Vancouver to Bowen Island, a distance of 14 miles, in seven hours 14 minutes. Her first professional swims were in 1934 and 1935 when she entered the five-mile events at the CNE, Toronto.

THIRD FLAG COMMAND

Native of Victoria Promoted to Admiral

By MONTE ROBERTS

A native son of Victoria is one of two senior naval officers promoted to flag rank.

Promotions of Commodore Kenneth F. Adams, 51, and Commodore Herbert S. Rayner, 44, of St. Catharines, to the rank of rear-admiral was announced by the department of defence today.

Rear-Admiral Adams was born in Victoria, in 1903, and has followed the sea since his late teens. Before joining the navy in 1928, he earned his master's ticket in merchant ships, and was commissioned a lieutenant by the RCN.

He is the first native Victorian to reach such a high rank in the navy.

COMMANDED MAGGIE

Rear-Admiral Rayner also joined the navy in 1928. He won the Distinguished Service Cross and Bar during the Second World War while he was in command of the destroyers St. Laurent and Huron.

He was commanding officer of HMCS Magnificent when the aircraft carrier visited Victoria last fall.

For bluff, outspoken Admiral Adams, the promotion means a victory in his all-out campaign to emphasize the importance of the naval reserve training plan.

In April, 1953, he left his post as Commodore of Barracks, HMCS Naden, to go to Hamilton as Commander of Divisions, which carries the responsibility of handling the reserve program across Canada.

At the time, he told friends privately but frankly he hoped mayor, who is the undisputed possessor of the finest nineteenth century mind in our city.

Mr. Keate said one group sees Victoria as the fourth largest growing city in Canada, with an increase of 42 per cent in population between the 1941 and 1951 census.

This group envisions a dream of a city, set down in one of the most spectacular settings on the North American continent; a progressive city of broad avenues, handsome buildings and thriving industries.

"The other group exists behind what some of us call 'the crumplet curtain'. Its coat-of-arms is a monocle and an opera cape rampant on a field of moss, and its civic motto is 'status quo'."

The chamber president noted "one of the shrewdest publicity stunts on the continent"—the challenge of channel swimmers to cross the Strait of Juan de Fuca to the United States, resulting in world-wide publicity.

"And now what do we find? We have more channel swimmers than we have boats to take the public across."

The publisher said civic affairs in the capital city are a catalogue of endless frustrations.

He gave some examples:

"We are recognized as a great convention town, yet we

Strait Speaking

(Patricia Russell, the 18-year-old UBC strait challenger who aims at being a Journalist, continues her daily column about her training at Cadboro Bay.)

I went downtown this morning. Entering one of the department stores, I stopped at the jewelry counter.

A little strand of opal beads commanded my attention, and I carefully examined the delicate catch.

"Not very strong," I remarked to the saleslady. "How much will they stand up to?"

She looked at the beads, then up at me, chuckled and replied: "Well I don't advise you to wear them in the cold water!"

The woman in charge of glassware stood beside me for quite a while as I browsed over many items I had no intention of buying.

Finally she said: "Say, aren't you the Russell girl?" and before I could reply, "My! how you've grown! What are you doing in Victoria?"

This blocked me. I studied her face, but felt no glimmer of recognition within me. Embarrassed I stammered: "Where..."

"Why, you used to live on Sixth Street in Lethbridge, didn't you, dearie?" she interrupted pleasantly. "I used to know your father."

I bought the glass I was holding.

When I left the store I wandered along to the newsstand, counting the many relatives to whom I was to send the recent papers. I picked up numerous copies of several different editions.

I carried them into the shop, and inquired the price. The graying, sleepy woman behind the counter suddenly awakened, and with a darting, searching look at my face, she said suspiciously:

"What do you want to do with these? You going to start another newsstand?"

NEW BISHOP GIVES FAREWELL ADDRESS

The real things of life are those of the spirit, Rev. P. R. Beattie, new Bishop of Kootenay, said Thursday in a farewell address to the Victoria Rotary Club.

Until recently dean of Christ Church Cathedral, he said that too much emphasis had been placed on size, speed, efficiency, comfort and money in estimating progress, without enough attention given to the spiritual values.

The greatness of Canada, he said, could only be retained when this country clung to the things of the spirit, "things of beauty, truth and goodness."

Bishop Beattie said only progress of the spirit is worth calling progress.

He said today's children are healthy and well clothed, "but I think there is a frightening indication of lack of the moral sense that makes the world make sense to us."

"When you think of your old home, you think of love, sacrifice and goodness that made it," he said. "The real things of life are things of spirit."

"We need to take our eyes off size, speed, efficiency and comfort—although we need all these things—and fix them on things of spirit: truth—not what will work, not what will get votes, not what is practical, but truth; beauty, in art, in human personality, in the art of living; and goodness—integrity, honesty, discipline, goodwill."

As for Victoria being against more things than any other city, Mr. Keate noted a local group opposed construction of an aquarium because, they said, the south-east winds would blow the fish smells into their houses—"through the glass tanks and all."

When a race track was proposed for an unused, unbeautiful piece of land in Saanich, the land suddenly became "everybody's backyard" and the opposition blocked the project.

Mr. Keate recalled that Saanich, "by a master stroke of defeatism," recently discovered something it could be for and against at the same time.

"This fast-growing area needs electric power and the

CPR to Discuss Extra Boat Trip

Action Promised By Crump

CPR officials will meet on Monday to discuss the possibility of an extra return trip to Port Angeles by the day steamer on the triangle route, a spokesman said today.

The suggestion was advanced Thursday by George I. Warren, commissioner of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, at a meeting here called by the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Warren said he had asked the CPR if Princess Marguerite or Patricia could be used for a late afternoon return trip. The steamers lay over in Victoria for two hours between arrival from Vancouver and departure for Seattle. The plan would be to delay the Seattle sailing one hour to make the Strait crossing possible.

N. R. Crump, CPR president, has assured both Chamber of Commerce and Mayor Claude Harrison that every attention was being given to the problem.

Meanwhile, Washington State's governor Arthur Langlie, who is also chairman of the toll bridge authority which operates Washington State Ferries, has entered the struggle to obtain adequate service between Victoria and Port Angeles.

He said in Olympia Thursday TBA "would look into the problem."

"The problem is one of facilities and ability to render the service without undertaking a loss that other riders on the system would carry," Gov. Langlie said. "The decision would have to be made after the consulting engineer makes a study."

THURSDAY MEETING

The meeting called by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce Thursday afternoon was attended by about 30 businessmen, resort owners, chamber members, and a representative of Port Angeles. All stressed the "extreme seriousness" of the situation.

Only concrete action taken was to wire Mr. Crump expressing "grave concern" over the inadequacy of the ferry service across the Strait.

Following the meeting, Mayor Harrison also wired Mr. Crump, strongly endorsing the meeting's stand.

The mayor said the council will call a meeting, Monday or Tuesday, of representatives of the transportation companies, Island MLAs, MPs, and representatives of the municipalities and Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Shake-Up Predicted In Traffic Handling

BY PETE LOUDON

A complete shake-up in handling of traffic direction matters in Victoria is in the offing following resignation recently of traffic engineer Robert

Doble, it was indicated at City Hall today.

The city has not advertised for a new traffic engineer but an advertisement has been posted for a junior grade assistant for the engineer's department.

Informed sources at city hall say this indicates traffic supervision will shortly be relegated to the police department, "where it belongs," as one alderman has stated.

The same sources felt such action will result in promotion of police traffic department head, Sgt. Brooke Douglass, to a new post of traffic inspector.

It would mean the planning of streets, traffic signals, the parking problem and all related subjects would be under the same roof as traffic violations.

Sgt. Douglass is well suited to the post, in the opinion of several aldermen.

Sgt. Douglass has been in charge of the police traffic department since 1949. His traffic training represents to a large degree a civic investment.

The city sent him to Northwestern University in Illinois, where the traffic school is considered the world's finest.

Wider Divorce Laws Sought by Jaycees

350 Delegates Want Grounds to Include Desertion, Cruelty, Incurable Insanity

B.C. Chamber of Commerce members today urged the provincial government to ask Ottawa to broaden the basis on which divorces are now granted to include desertion, cruelty and incurable insanity.

In convention here, the 350 delegates from 28 Jaycee units throughout the province agreed in resolution that Canada's divorce laws are not in keeping with present day needs.

They urged a desertion "without cause" for at least three years' clause be inserted into existing legislation, and "incurable insanity which has required care and treatment for five years."

Among other resolutions passed was one which resolved that any Jaycees now belonging to an organization which practiced racial discrimination, do all in his power to have the relevant part of that group's constitution revoked.

PUBLICIZE NEEDS

They resolved also to publicize needs of mentally retarded children, and arouse public and government support for these "children so long forgotten"; standardize emergency telephone numbers throughout B.C., such as fire and police numbers; urge the provincial government to establish driver training courses in high schools, and request installation of simultaneous translation facilities in the House of Commons as means of "speeding the nation's business."

ASK The TIMES

Q. In regard to a question recently asked about the Blackball vessels Iroquois, Chinook, etc., on the Port Angeles run, did the Kalakala replace the Iroquois, and the Chinook replace the Kalakala? E.R.

A. Yes, that was the order of service of the vessels. When the Iroquois was withdrawn from the passenger service, the Kalakala took over the Victoria run. When the Chinook was built, a larger ship with accommodation for more automobiles, she was put in the Victoria service.

Q. Who was lieutenant-governor of B.C. in 1881? F.A.C.

A. Clement Francis Cornwall took office June 21, 1881. Succeeding him, Hugh Nelson took office Feb. 8, 1887.

Keate Claims 'Crumplet Curtain' Crimps Coming City

Victoria is against more things, on a per capita basis, than any other city in Canada.

Victoria may not know what it is for, but it should get credit because it certainly knows what it's against.

This capital city analysis as presented to delegates to the B.C. Yukon Junior Chamber of Commerce convention here today by Times Publisher Stuart Keate, president of the city's senior Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Keate's penetrating remarks came after he expressed the hope Jaycee delegates have revised their opinions of Victoria.

"I am sure that you will go back home denying the base canard that this is the only cemetery in Canada with a business section. And I am sure you will discount that legend to the effect that Victorians are people who anxiously scan the obituary columns each morning and subside into blissful sleep only after they find their names are not in it."

He pictured Victoria, instead, as a city in conflict—a city in transition.

"On the one hand, you have the young Turks—of whom there may be a few present in this hall—and, on the other, the firmly entrenched reactionaries led, one suspects, by our mayor, who is the undisputed possessor of the finest nineteenth century mind in our city."

Mr. Keate said one group sees Victoria as the fourth largest growing city in Canada, with an increase of 42 per cent in population between the 1941 and 1951 census.

This group envisions a dream of a city, set down in one of the most spectacular settings on the North American continent; a progressive city of broad avenues, handsome buildings and thriving industries.

"The other group exists behind what some of us call 'the crumplet curtain'. Its coat-of-arms is a monocle and an opera cape rampant on a field of moss, and its civic motto is 'status quo'."

The chamber president noted "one of the shrewdest publicity stunts on the continent"—the challenge of channel swimmers to cross the Strait of Juan de Fuca to the United States, resulting in world-wide publicity.

"And now what do we find? We have more channel swimmers than we have boats to take the public across."

The publisher said civic affairs in the capital city are a catalogue of endless frustrations.

He gave some examples:

"We are recognized as a great convention town, yet we have no civic auditorium capable of handling the type of meetings present-day conventions demand. We have one of the brightest young Art Gallery curators in Canada, but we can't invite top shows here because the city won't contribute a plugged nickel to his gallery.

"We have a fine young symphony conductor, and an excellent orchestra, but he can't get a cent from City Hall and the orchestra depends on the generosity of private citizens."

As for Victoria being against more things than any other city, Mr. Keate noted a local group opposed construction of an aquarium because, they said, the south-east winds would blow the fish smells into their houses—"through the glass tanks and all."

When a race track was proposed for an unused, unbeautiful piece of land in Saanich, the land suddenly became "everybody's backyard" and the opposition blocked the project.

Mr. Keate recalled that Saanich, "by a master stroke of defeatism," recently discovered something it could be for and against at the same time.

"This fast-growing area needs electric power and the B.C. Electric has been trying for over a year to give it to them. But they want the company to bury it underground. Result: status quo."

But the publisher didn't want to give the impression Victorians feel downhearted, and all struggles have been lost. He detailed the brighter side, too.

"We seem to grow in spite of ourselves," he said. "And I suggest that we always will. The reason is that people will insist on coming here to live, recognizing in our climate and matchless natural beauty an ideal locale for what the women's magazines call 'gracious living'."

The publisher warned the Jaycees that Communism cannot be defeated by raucous tactics or beer-garden heckling. "Your purposes are best served when you conduct your argument at a high level."

He also warned them to think carefully before launching on any campaign of book-burning.

"There is a wide body of thought abroad today which contends that the freedom to read is vital, and what we need to do is inculcate in our young people the talent for selective reading—recognizing what is good and what is bad," Mr. Keate said.

Time to Go Shopping Again For Week-end Meals, Snacks

By PENNY SAVER

I wandered into my favorite fresh vegetable and fruit stores today, and started thinking about week-end meals and snacks. For the actual meals, I picked out my supply of fresh vegetables. I thought I'd like some fresh peas. They've dropped in price from last week. Now 20 cents a pound. Asparagus has steadied in price at 29 cents a pound. Last week it was 28 and 30 cents. Something new on the markets this week is the sight of tender fresh bean sprouts. Nearly everyone has promised themselves to try these sprouts in one of the many ways shown in most cook books. How many of you have really tried them. In Chinese food (one of my favorite types), bean sprouts play a big part. Buy some shoots and see for yourself. They're selling at 20 cents a half pound.

Next on the agenda, was to buy food for snacks and lunches. Salads are always a favorite, no matter what the weather. A basic item of most salads is lettuce, now selling at 15 cents a head in some places, and as high as 20 cents in others. Whether you prefer a rich mayonnaise or a light and tangy vinegar-oil dressing, lettuce adapts itself to your needs.

Tomatoes have gone down in price this week, also. Last week's prices have been cut in most vegetables. Hothouse tomatoes are now 35 cents a pound (last week 40 cents), and the little dessert tomatoes have been priced at 49 cents for two pounds.

Celery, to be served with cheese, cooked or in salads, is an old standby in most homes. It's now 20 cents a stalk.

Now we come to thoughts of dessert, and fruit snacks. Pineapples were 45 cents each, and have now dropped to 35 cents. They're bright and fresh looking, and have a very tempting aura about them. I saw that strawberries had gone up, very little, but up just the same. They were 32 cents a box last week, and this week they're 33 cents. Watermelon has taken a small nosedive, which pleases everyone in our house. It's now 12 cents a pound, and going down every day. Rhubarb is quite a bit cheaper than it was several weeks ago. It's now 25 cents for four pounds.

Let's think about the table decorations now. Flowers are in abundance everywhere in town. I saw tulips in gorgeous shades being sold at two bunches for 25 cents. Narcissus were the same price. Iris are 20 cents a bunch, and double white narcissi, 33 cents a dozen. For something that smells very delicate and sweet, and is dainty to put into your floral sprays, buy some fresh lily-of-the-valley. It's selling at 29 cents a bunch.

Parenthood Is Never Free From Problems

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

Parenthood is no bed of roses. At every age children cause problems for their parents.

(Q)—"I have a daughter, eight years old. It seems that her problems never end. Here is the latest. The other day, while I was lying down because I didn't feel well, she banged the door and awakened me. She knew I was sleeping; it was intentional. Wouldn't you think a girl of her age would be old enough to be more considerate of her mother? How would you handle such problems? The more I punish her, the worse she gets."

(A)—A child is never too old to be free from all problems, any more than an adult is. However, I think you are expecting adult behavior from her while she is still a child.

As for the door-banging episode, it sounds very incongruous, but there must have been some reason for it that you did not mention. I am sure that she was not just thoughtless. It sounds to me like a case of trying to get even with you for something you said or did.

You would have fewer problems with your daughter if you punished her less and put more emphasis on showing her that you loved and respected her. Then she would be willing to come to you for help in the solution of her problems. She would not feel that she had to get even with you for punishing her when there seemed to her to be little reason for it.

You must be prepared for even worse problems with your daughter before things get better. In a few years, she will reach the adolescent stage when both boys and girls are likely to be difficult to live with and even more difficult to manage.

To forestall trouble at that time, my advice to you is to change your tactics in handling your daughter. Treat her as a near-adolescent instead of a child. Make sure that she knows you love her and that you want to be her friend, not her boss.

As a special service to our readers, Dr. Hurlock has written a 64-page booklet, "You and Your Problems." For your copy send 15 cents in coin with a self-addressed stamped envelope to this newspaper.

Diocese WA Hears Miss Eleanor Rice Review Program of Children's Work

Miss Eleanor Rice, Dominion supervisor of children's work, was special speaker at the board meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Diocese of British Columbia, held recently at St. Peter's Church hall, Qumichan.

Introduced by Mrs. R. O. Taylor, diocesan president, Miss Rice described the complete program for children's work, covering the parents and home, the Sunday school, mid-week activities and church attendance.

At seven years of age, Miss Rice pointed out, the child may join the junior auxiliary of the Church Boys' League. There are 850 branches of the former, and 150 of the latter in Canada, she said.

Miss Rice reported that one junior group, on hearing of the lack of food in India, set to work to earn money to send food parcels through CARE to an Indian farmer.

Leaders for children's work were badly needed, she concluded. She felt that it was especially important to get boys aged seven to 12 interested in the Church Boys' League. Thanks to the speaker was expressed by Mrs. Taylor.

Mrs. Bailey welcomed the visitors to St. Peter's and in her address, pointed out that the church is one of the oldest on the Island, having been built in 1866. She referred also to the thorn tree growing in the churchyard, which had been a cutting from the original tree at Glastonbury Abbey and which is believed to have been planted by Joseph of Arimathea.

Mrs. Taylor announced completion of the addition to the Caroline Macklem Home and that it was now occupied. Mrs. B. P. Harding reported that 140 girls with 18 leaders and assistant leaders had registered for the Girls' Auxiliary festival in Victoria.

Treasurer, Mrs. F. A. Goodwin, reported the sum of $54.76 had been donated by life members toward the Korean orphanage and a sum of $15 toward clothing for children of Japan.

Olive Josephine Mair Wed In Ceremony in St. John's

Canon George Biddle officiated at a wedding ceremony in St. John's Church recently which united in marriage Miss Olive Josephine Mair, daughter of Mrs. W. A. Mair, 119 St. Lawrence Street, and the late Mr. Mair, and Leonard Franklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Franklin, 65 Norrey's Avenue, Oxford, Eng. White roses and fern were placed on the altar.

Given in marriage by her brother, W. Mair, the bride was lovely in a white afternoon gown in princess style. She wore a small white hat with a short veil, and white accessories. Red roses and lily of the valley were in her bouquet.

Miss Jean Mair was maid of honor for her sister, in a turquoise afternoon dress in princess style, complemented with white hat and accessories and a bouquet of white carnations.

The groom had his brother, W. Franklin, as best man. A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Mair, 120 St. Andrews Street, where a three-tier wedding cake topped with pink roses and lily of the valley centred the bride's table. Red and white carnations and white candles in flowered holders flanked the cake, and spring flowers completed the floral decorations. Bob Whyte proposed the bridal toast.

The couple left for a honeymoon trip up Island. The bride wore a grey woollen coat over her wedding dress complemented with a red rose corsage, for her going-away outfit.

CAC Progress Traced By Economics Director

Members of the Canadian Association of Consumers gathered at the YWCA Thursday night, to hear an address by Miss Charlotte Black, director of the School of Home Economics, University of British Columbia. Miss Black outlined the development and expansion of the CAC over the period of nine years since it was first organized, illustrating its increase in influence and prestige.

The CAC was described by Miss Black as a fellowship of women who want to learn about and share in their own business which is the business of Canada. By being better informed women are better able to serve themselves as consumers, the speaker added.

The CAC which was sparked into being by the National Council of Women and the Women's Institutes grew out of women learning their power during the wartime rationing and controls. When women truly understood what was back of regulations they co-operated to the full. As women spend a large amount of the national income they should have knowledge and understanding of the products they buy, Miss Black explained.

The CAC is working to produce this understanding between consumer, manufacturer and retailer. The leading group of the Association has been restrained in its demands and has obtained detailed information before going ahead on any project, the speaker showed, with the result that the CAC had become highly respected by the main government bodies and the Department of Trade and Commerce.

Nationally the Association has been active in the textile field working with the manufacturer and retailer in drafting more detailed labelling of textiles. At present the label tells what the fabric is but as Miss Black said "we want to know what the fabric can do". The National group is also working for a uniform grading of foods.

Que. Builders Fight Vacation Shutdown

MONTREAL (BUP) — Officials of a building trades union today studied an arbitration board's recommendation that they reconsider a demand that the entire construction industry in Quebec shut down for two weeks so they can go on vacation.

Jean J. Perrault, an architect and management nominee on the board hearing a contract dispute between several building trades councils and members of the Builders' Exchange, said the holiday demand was "unrealistic."

The board Thursday adjourned the hearing until June 8 after union spokesman Albert Gosselin asked for the industry-wide holiday.

Gosselin said the workers wanted a complete shutdown for two weeks during the summer because several employers were in the habit of hiring replacements when their men went on vacation and refusing to put them back on the payroll when they returned.

Pork Consumption Shows Big Jump

OTTAWA (CP) — The pig, sped by a decline in prices, is gaining on the cow in the race for the favorite meat spot on the Canadian dinner table.

Canada's total meat consumption rose in the first three months of 1955 by 24,200,000 pounds to 386,100,000 from 361,900,000 a year ago. And the increase was entirely due to a rise in demand for pork.

The agriculture department estimated Thursday pork consumption increased in the three-month period to 164,800,000 pounds—up 31,000,000 from last year.

Beef consumption dropped by 4,800,000 to 197,000,000. Veal declined by 1,300,000 to 18,600,000 and mutton and lamb by 1,300,000 to 5,700,000.

VALUABLE TRADE
Britain exported radio equipment worth nearly $84,000,000 in 1954.

Ted May Play For Sox Tonight

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams, toughened and ready, is expected to make his first regular-season appearance tonight against Washington—a birthday present for manager Mike Higgins of the sagging Boston Red Sox.

General manager Joe Cronin said he is writing American League headquarters in Chicago this morning to have Williams shifted to active-player status from the restricted list. Such notification is all that is necessary to make the 36-year-old slugger eligible.

"I'll be ready to pinch-hit any how," Williams said Thursday after a brief conditioning workout at Fenway Park.

HOME GARDEN By HILDA BEASTALL

Shrubs Lend Garden Air of Permanence

The fact that a garden is small is, in itself, a sound reason why it should wear an air of permanence.

This may be achieved by the use of small shrubs. There are, fortunately, many delightful kinds which never become unwieldy, and a selection from these will give color during all seasons.

The advantages of shrubs are many, for once planted in well-prepared soil they require a minimum of attention, yet increase in beauty each year. Spring and autumn clean-up and mulching, and a little judicious pruning according to individual needs, is about all they need.

Kerria japonica might be used to contribute height with out bulkiness, its round golden blossoms clothing each stem from the ground up during May. The well-known forsythia hangs out golden drops through April, and Spraea van Houttei adds white sprays. Neat mounds are Cytisus praecox and C. kewensis, with pale cream bloom-like flowers.

As ground covers, Erica carnea in its varieties (winter heathers) are suggested for late winter and early spring flowers, and Heilanthemum (sun rose) for summer. Both of these subjects need close shearing after flowering, to maintain production of bloom.

This partial list leaves us with the thought that there is no lack of suitable shrubs for even the smallest of garden spaces. The task is to select those which give us the most pleasure.

Companions for this spiraea might well be lavender and rosemary, both retaining their grey green foliage all winter and offering their pale lavender blooms and purple spikes, respectively, later in the year. Lavender shrubs should be given a close "hair-cut" in August after the spikes are removed, in order to preserve a compact, winter-hardy habit.

Lowlands of Scotland are an area about 60 miles wide from the Clyde to the Forth rivers.

Commissioner Claims VI Power Shortage Problem Eliminated

Program of Development at Campbell River Outlined at Nanaimo Substation Opening

NANAIMO—The B.C. Power Commission's program for Vancouver Island is expected to eliminate power shortages in the "foreseeable future," commission chairman T. H. Crosby said here Thursday.

3rd Move Due For Ladysmith War Memorial

LADYSMITH — Ladysmith's twice-moved war memorial will probably have to be moved again.

Grade of the new Trans-Canada Highway, which is now under construction, is apparently much higher than was anticipated when the monument was re-located last year, and not only is the base of the monument lower than the new highway surface, but the slope of the grade has encroached on the base.

The monument was originally located at the intersection of Gatacre Street and First Avenue. From there it was moved to a site about 100 yards north of its present location. It had to be moved from there to make room for the new highway right-of-way.

The subject was discussed at the regular meeting of the city council Wednesday night when brought to the council's attention by Jack MacDonald, president of the local branch of the Canadian Legion, and Dr. J. W. Neville, a past president.

Dr. Neville told the council that it would be impossible to hold the traditional Remembrance Day service around the cenotaph unless it is either raised to a higher level or moved to a new site. He said the Legion was prepared to assist in any way possible to find a solution for the problem, but would appreciate help from the city.

He reported that Legion officials had already discussed the question with department of public works representatives and had been assured that if the monument were dismantled and stored until the highway is completed the department would provide sufficient fill to make it possible for the base to be raised.

The Legion appreciated the fact that the city had already moved the monument twice at considerable expense, he said, and it was hoped that the next move would be the last.

Dynamite Bomb Found in Car Of Principal

NANAIMO—A bomb consisting of three sticks of dynamite, complete with detonator hooked to batteries, was found Wednesday morning by J. B. Litch, high school principal, on the seat of his car.

It was the work of an amateur, said Sgt. William Currie, RCMP, "but if it had exploded it could have done a terrific amount of damage to the car."

The dynamite was the type used for blasting stumps, and probably would have wrecked the car if it had exploded, Sgt. Currie said.

Because the bomb was not hidden it was felt no attempt had been made on Mr. Litch's life. Mr. Litch had no suggestion to offer as to who might be responsible.

A suggestion that boys from Brannan Lake School might have been responsible was tagged by RCMP as "unjust."

Ladysmith Sprinkling Limits Set

LADYSMITH—Sprinkling regulations will be imposed immediately in the Ladysmith water area, the city council decided Wednesday night.

The decision was not made because of any threat of a water shortage, but because widespread use of sprinklers reduces pressure in the upper levels of the city.

"If we get a few days of hot weather, the people on the top will have no pressure at all," Ald Allan Carey said when he recommended that restrictions be applied.

The restrictions will be imposed in the same manner as last year, with the water area being divided at Roberts Street and the areas north and south of that dividing line being permitted to sprinkle during certain hours on alternate days.

Princess Candidates Chosen For Ladysmith Celebration

LADYSMITH—A "princess" will be chosen by popular ballot to reign over the annual July 1 celebrations here.

Candidates, chosen by their school mates, represent the five elementary schools in the district. They are Margaret Backmeier, St. Mary's; Connie Lowe, The Diamond; Betty-Rae Rafter, Ladysmith Elementary; Lynda Scofield, North Oyster, and Patsy Whalen, Mount-Brenton.

The two runners-up in the voting will act as attendants to the winner.

Plans for the annual celebration are making good progress, according to Reg. Pringle, chairman of the Lions Club committee in charge of the event.

Jocko Colwell of the IWA has charge of the loggers' sports, to be held at the agricultural grounds.

Authority Needed For Bi-Monthly Council Meetings

SAANICHTON — By-law amendment will be necessary before Central Saanich council can hold bi-monthly meetings, it was learned today.

Decision was reached at the last meeting of the council to hold two regular meetings each month in view of the number of special sessions called.

Opposition to the proposal has since developed, it is understood. Next meeting of the council will be June 7.

Farmers Meets Monday

SOOKE — Guest speaker at the regular meeting of Sooke Farmers' Institute, to be held in the dining room of Sooke Hall Monday at 8 p.m., will be William S. Duff. Mr. Duff will give illustrated talk on bush fruits, vegetables and flowers. Any one interested in these subjects is welcome to attend.

Loggers Needed in Duncan Area

DUNCAN—Difficulty is still being experienced in filling orders from logging operations, with skilled men being practically unobtainable. R. S. Robinson, Duncan manager of the National Employment Service, reported today.

His monthly statement on employment conditions in this district mentioned that a "state of almost total employment exists in the area at this period. This condition is usual at this time of the year and is expected to continue throughout the summer months unless fire hazard or a labor dispute should prevent its continuance."

In the urban area, vacancies have been normal. The construction industry appears to be quiet, with no salient building project under way, yet most construction workers are employed.

The announcement that a pulp mill will be built at Crofton has resulted in a steady flow of inquiries from applicants by mail, telephone, and personal call at the Duncan branch. With sawmills of the area operating to capacity, almost all the requirements for labor have been for replacements and these have been infrequent. Nearly all acceptable workers for the mills have been placed and young, inexperienced men will have to be used for future sawmill vacancies.

Eden Majority Reaches 60 Seats

Sea Greyhounds on Show Tonight

Skipper and crew of 36-foot yawl Armida, one of Corinthian Yacht Club entries in Saturday's Swiftsure race, hopes for better luck this year than last, when rigging came adrift in gusting gales, and mainmast was broken off about one-third from top. Back to try again are, left to right: Gale Griswold, Karl Hostetter (skipper), Larry Schorett, Randy Miller and Dale Dow. (Times photo.)

Swing to Right Sharply Cuts Laborite Margins

LONDON—Party standings in the British election based on returns from 622 of 630 seats (316 seats needed to win):

	Seats	Votes	%	1951
Conservatives	340	13,211,868	49.9	13,537,874
Labor	276	12,361,670	46.6	13,877,240
Liberal	5	693,173	2.6	708,060
Communist	0	33,144	.1	21,640
Other	1	197,259	.8	110,695

Standing at dissolution: Conservatives and allies (including speaker), 320; Labor, 293; Liberals, 6; Irish Nationalists, 2; Irish Labor, 1; vacancies, 3.

Party gains: Conservatives from Labor, 18; Conservatives from Irish Labor, 1; Labor from Conservatives, 1; Sinn Fein from Irish Nationalists, 1; new seats, Conservatives, 5; unchanged, 596.

LONDON (CP)—Sir Anthony Eden today capped a smashing election victory with a promise that his Conservatives will "do everything in our power to fulfil the trust of the country."

Eden emerged as a national leader of full stature as voters in Thursday's general election gave him a solid majority of about 60 seats in the new 630-seat House of Commons.

Eden, most of whose political career has been overshadowed by the brilliant Sir Winston Churchill, had the satisfaction of leading the Conservatives to their biggest victory in a quarter-century and of reversing a 90-year trend against the party in power increasing its strength. In the old 625-seat Commons, the Conservatives had a working majority of 17.

(See List of Elected Members Page 8)

The victory had an immediate effect on the London stock market, which leaped buoyantly ahead with news of the Conservative triumph. Steel and shares of other companies

RAIL TIE-UP FACES EDEN

LONDON (UP)—A strike by 70,000 railway engineers and firemen set for Saturday midnight threatened Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden's newly re-elected government with nationwide chaos tonight. Efforts to head off the planned walkout failed even as Eden threw the full prestige of his government into the fight.

which might have faced nationalization had the Socialists won highlighted the day's advances.

Win Aids Eden at 'Summit' Talks

Eden, with a new five-year lease on 10 Downing Street, the official residence of the prime minister, returned triumphantly to London today.

The 57-year-old prime minister, with his wife by his side, left his Warwickshire electoral district by car after telling his supporters his personal victory there went "beyond my wildest dreams."

They had increased his individual majority by more than 3,000 votes over his Labor opponent and set the pattern for the sweeping Conservative victory.

Eden was cheered by a crowd of about 300 when he arrived at 10 Downing Street. Obviously pleased by the resounding vote of confidence from the people, which will strengthen his prestige for the forthcoming Big Four talks, Eden smiled and waved to his well-wishers.

"I thank you, I thank you very much," he said. From the crowd there were shouts of "Bravo," "Well done" and "Congratulations."

The Labor leadership conceded defeat early today, many hours before the Conservatives—picking up strength from late-reporting rural constituencies—won their 316th seat for a clear majority.

In the previous House, which had 625 seats before redistribution for this election, the standing was: Conservatives and allies, 319-plus the speaker, who although a Conservative had no vote; Labor, 293; Liberals, 6; Irish Nationalists, 2; Irish Labor, 1; and three vacant seats—two Conservative and one Labor.

Technically, the government which Eden inherited from Sir Winston Churchill 51 days ago ceases to exist when this election is completed.

The first formal step after the Conservative success is confirmed by the final result will be for the Queen to invite Eden to form a government. He reshuffled his cabinet shortly after taking over from Churchill and is not expected to make any dramatic changes immediately.

Son Matches Macmillan Triumph

One of Eden's chief lieutenants, Harold Macmillan, who succeeded him as foreign secretary, was returned in Bromway with an increase of more than 1,000 in his majority.

Macmillan's triumph gives the Conservatives a father and son team. His son, Maurice, was elected in Halifax, gaining the seat from Labor.

Jennie Lee, wife of left-wing Laborite Aneurin Bevan, won easily as did her husband. So did Eden's nephew, John B. Eden.

R. A. Butler, chancellor of the exchequer and the man largely credited with setting out economic policies which contributed to the Conservative victory, was re-elected in Saffron-Walden with a margin increased by about 1,200 votes over 1951.

Lord Woolton, Conservative election strategist, said the lower poll—76 per cent of the electorate compared with between 80 and 85 per cent in the previous two elections—was significant.

The swing to the right, ending the near-deadlocks of the last two general elections, is considered due mainly to the prosperity Britain has enjoyed under the Conservatives during the last 3½ years.

High wages, full employment and an end of postwar austerity took the sting out of political rivalry.

Britain's third biggest party, the Liberals, suffered heavy defeats in a vain bid to recapture some of the power they once wielded. In 43 out of 57 seats they contested their candidates lost their deposits.

The Communists, who contested 17 seats, were even more shattered. All 14—whose results had been declared by this morning lost their deposits.

NO WINNER THIS WEEK

'Bull' Fooled Many In Crossword Contest

It was "bull" not "ball" which mystified a great many Times crossworders in last week's puzzle. As a result, there was no winner and the prize for the new puzzle jumps to $100 for a bonus winner.

The definition was "you may possibly have seen it play a very necessary part in a sporting event." The key word in the definition was "possibly." It can be taken for granted every one has seen a ball used in a game, but you only "possibly" may have seen a bullfight. There were several other sticklers. Full explanation of the answer is on page 26, along with the new $100 puzzle.

'No Hope' for Victims Of Fire in Kootenays

NELSON, B.C. (BUP)—Eight persons were believed to have been burned to death today when fire crackled through the three-story Strathcona Hotel in one of British Columbia's worst fire disasters.

Fire Chief Eldon S. Owens said the bodies of a girl, two women and a man had been recovered from the holocaust 10 hours after the fire ripped through the 45-year-old wooden structure. Four others of the approximate 60 guests in the residential hotel were still unaccounted for, he said.

Asked whether there was any possibility of the remaining four surviving the blaze, the chief said "I'm afraid it's hopeless—utterly impossible."

EIGHT HURT

Five tenants were injured when they jumped to safety and three firemen suffered slight injuries in fighting the blaze.

The victims tentatively identified were John Price, about 83, Mrs. Margaret Sinclair, about 70, a Mrs. Edey and a Japanese-Canadian girl bank teller, Harumi Shimoto.

The hotel, the oldest in the interior British Columbia community of 10,000, was recently converted into residential apartments.

Two of the survivors, E. V. Land and Paul Franck, clung by their finger-tips to the window sill of their rooms before being rescued by firemen.

Franck, a typewriter repairman, said he had just fallen asleep when he was awakened by smoke pouring into his third-floor room.

"I got out into the hall but there was nowhere to go," he said. "The window was the only place left and I climbed out and hung by my finger-tips."

"I yelled for help for three or four minutes and my fingers started to burn on the hot sill," Franck said. "A fireman came up on a ladder and got me just in time. I couldn't have hung on any longer."

Fire Chief Owens estimated damage at $85,000.

EARLY MORNING

The fire, of unknown origin, broke out about 1.00 a.m. on the second floor, trapping most of the residents of the building. Many of them were elderly people, the fire chief said.

Some of the guests and staff jumped into firemen's arms. Many fled in their nightclothes, with no time to save their possessions.

4-MILE FLOOD CREST BEARING DOWN ON ELIE

WINNIPEG, Man. (BUP)—The tiny community of Elie was a walled fortress today as it prepared to meet the onslaught of a raging Assiniboine River on one side and the La Salle River on the other.

Three days of frantic dike-building ended Thursday night with completion of a wall of earth and sandbags around the townsite.

A flood crest nearly four miles wide and two to three feet deep rolled overland from the Assiniboine and tore out culverts and bridges and washed out secondary roads that will take months to repair. The crest was three miles from Elie early today.

Wasylenchuk Gets Life Imprisonment

NEW WESTMINSTER (BUP)—The heaviest sentence ever handed down in British Columbia was armed robbery—life imprisonment—was imposed today on bank robber John Wasylenchuk, 32.

Wasylenchuk, third man convicted in the $29,500 holdup of a Burnaby branch of the Royal Bank of Canada Jan. 13, showed no emotion when sentence was passed by Mr. Justice H. S. Wood in Assize Court.

Wasylenchuk's attorney, Edward Whiffen, said he definitely would appeal the sentence.

Justice Wood, qualifying his sentence, said "the statute allows for life imprisonment in bad cases. This is a bad case." Wasylenchuk will receive no lashes.

The two other bandits in the robbery, William Bertelson of Victoria and John Alan Babcock of Vancouver, both received sentences of 20 years and 21 strokes after entering guilty pleas in Burnaby police court.

Death Toll Reaches 115

UDALL, Kan. (AP)—Rubble piles in this smashed town yielded additional bodies as the toll from death-dealing tornadoes which lashed six states mounted to at least 115 today.

More than 700 were injured. They were described as suffering from hurts ranging from "broken bones to sticks stuck in their backs." Property damage was in the millions.

As bulldozers and a crane turned over the ruins in this devastated town of 500 where only three business places were left standing, 12 more bodies were recovered overnight.

200-MILE RACE

20 Yachts Ready for Swiftsure

For the first time in the history of the Swiftsure ocean yacht race, all entries will be anchored in the Inner Harbor tonight, prior to the 9.30 a.m. starting time Saturday.

The race committee has asked all yachts to dress ship for the occasion, and at least 20 yachts will be anchored gunwale to gunwale.

Mayor Claude Harrison, R.V.C. Commodore F. W. Nicolls, and P.Y.A. vice-commodore Andrew Wright will make a welcoming tour of the entries, commencing at 8 p.m.

At 9.15 p.m., the schooner Black Dog will act as a floating stage for a concert of sea chanteys by the Meistersingers under the direction of F. D. Wickett.

Progress of the 136.4 nautical mile race to the Swiftsure lightship and back will be charted by a special R.V.C. committee, working around the clock. Information on the race can be obtained at any time by phoning the yacht club, 4-5513.

Depending on winds, yachts will complete the race late Sunday or Monday morning. Actual sailing distance is over 200 miles.

ADAMS, RAYNER MADE ADMIRALS

Victoria, Ontario Officers Promoted By RCN; Adams Heads Naval Divisions

OTTAWA (CP)—The navy today got two new rear-admirals.

The defence department announced the promotions of Commodore Herbert S. Rayner, DSC and bar, 44, of St. Catharines, Ont., and Ottawa and of Commodore Kenneth F. Adams, 51, of Victoria.

Rear-Admiral Rayner has just been appointed chief of naval personnel at naval headquarters here, succeeding Rear-Admiral Hugh F. Pollen, 49, of Oakville, Ont., and Halifax, who becomes Flag Officer Pacific Coast, July 7.

Rear-Admiral Adams has been commanding officer naval divisions since the formation at Hamilton in April, 1953, of a separate establishment to administer the naval reserve and its 22 naval divisions across Canada. His promotion makes his title Flag Officer Naval Divisions. (See story page 17).

BEGAN AS CADET

Rear-Admiral Rayner, who began his naval career as a cadet in 1928, won the Distinguished Service Cross and bar during the Second World War while he was in command of the destroyers St. Laurent and Huron. Since the war, he has commanded the aircraft carrier Magnificent and held several staff appointments.

LONDON (CP)—Sir Anthony Eden today capped a smashing election victory with a promise that his Conservatives will "do everything in our power to fulfil the trust of the country."

Eden emerged as a national leader of full stature as voters in Thursday's general election gave him a solid majority of about 60 seats in the new 630-seat House of Commons.

Eden, most of whose political career has been overshadowed by the brilliant Sir Winston Churchill, had the satisfaction of leading the Conservatives to their biggest victory in a quarter-century and of reversing a 90-year trend against the party in power increasing its strength. In the old 625-seat Commons, the Conservatives had a working majority of 17.

The victory had an immediate effect on the London stock market which leaped buoyantly ahead with news of the Conservative triumph. Steel and shares of other companies which might have faced nationalization had the Socialists won highlighted the day's advances.

Eden, with a new five-year lease on 10 Downing Street, the official residence of the prime minister, returned triumphantly to London today.

The 57-year-old prime minister, with his wife by his side, left his Warwickshire electoral district by car after telling his supporters his personal vision of the future "beyond my wildest dreams."
